GRADE 4 DONATIONS BOOST KOREAN CRIPPLED KIDDIES FUND

Showing the spirit of Christmas sharing in the most direct fashion, four youngsters from George Jay School today brought $10 into the Times for the war-crippled children in Korea.

The sum was collected from classmates in Grade Four.

Quartet of collectors were Robert Wood, Rosalie Roskelley, Jo-Anne Nadiger, all aged nine, and Helmut Althaus, 10.

The children have learned young the old and true adage that happiness can't exist unless shared.

This sharing makes everyone a stronger link in the intricate chain of human fellowship.

This is no more apparent throughout the year than at Christmas, when hearts warm to the needs of others and there is pleasure in giving.

But, sometimes, we don't give always where the need is greatest.

Things really close to home look much more important than a gift, say, to a struggling "little person" many miles away.

In an effort to put the spirit of giving in true perspective, the Times has combined with the Unitarian Service Committee to help war-maimed "little persons" in the Sam Yook home for disabled children in Seoul, Korea.

Donations, by cash or cheque, may be brought or sent to the Times' downtown office, 1215 Broad, or to the main office, 2631 Douglas. Cowichan Valley residents may deal through the Times' Duncan office, 30 Kenneth Street. All gifts are income tax deductible.

THE TAIWAN PUZZLE

Brave Surface Hides Heartache

This is the third in a series of articles by Times editor Bruce Hutchison written after his recent visit to Taiwan (Formosa), where he interviewed Chiang Kai-shek and other leaders of the free Chinese.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

No Westerner can begin to grasp the hope and tragedy of Taiwan until he has been there and seen it for himself. Even then, if he is a casual tourist enjoying one of the Pacific's loveliest islands, he may not suspect the heartbreak beneath the brave surface of an exile government and a booming economy.

Hutchison

It is only when the ancient Chinese reserve breaks down and the exiles speak their real minds that one glimpses their passionate yearning for the old mainland home. And in the power struggle of the world the mainland seems to recede further every day into the mists of Formosa Strait.

The political facts of this flash-point of world explosion are easily understood. While the United States will hold Taiwan as a vital strategic base, it will not attack the mainland or let the formidable army of Taiwan attack it, not at least until the Communist regime collapses in counter-revolution. Chiang Kai-shek is well leashed.

But the human facts underlie, distort and may some day endanger the facts of politics. For the government of Taiwan lives, moves and has its being in the hope of recovering the mainland.

What happens if the exiles lose their hope, if the spiritual cement of this strange experiment dissolves? That is the haunting question which confronts not only Chiang but the United States.

It can be postponed while

Plane Lost On Coast

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A San Francisco-bound plane with at least three persons aboard disappeared Thursday night after the pilot radioed one engine had quit.

The last message from the two-engined PBY-6A amphibian received by the coast guard at Annette Island, 250 miles south of here, gave a position 28 miles north of Annette. Radio contact then was lost.

REEVES DISAPPOINTED

Anti-Fluoride Ratio 13 to 8

Greater Victorians Thursday voted 13 to 8 against fluoridation of the water supply.

That was the average margin by which the health measure was defeated in Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt when a total of 6,483 voted against and 3,965 voted for it.

The same margin prevailed last week when Victoria effectively killed the proposal.

All told, 13,285 votes against and 7,934 votes in favor were cast by persons in the four municipalities in this year's area-wide referendum.

Oak Bay showed the most support for the measure where the vote broke at about four to three with 2,109 against and 1,543 in favor.

Saanich put up the stiffest resistance to the proposal, voting 3,513 against and 1,922 in favor—about seven to four.

Esquimalt voters rejected the referendum 861 against and 500 in favor — slightly more than three to two.

Victoria's vote approximated the average ratio at 13 to eight against.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch alone appeared happy with the result of the fluoridation referendum Thursday. Personally opposed to the measure, he said the "people are beginning to take a little cognizance of their freedoms and to assert their democratic rights.

"I don't think it was pure cussedness which caused the defeat. The people turned down fluoridation here, as they have everywhere else, because they felt it infringed on their rights."

Saanich Reeve George Chatterton and Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele, both of whom kept their own counsel prior to the vote, were disappointed at the result.

Reeve Chatterton said he had hoped he could realize some savings on his annual family dental bill, of about $400, through introduction of fluoridation.

Reeve Wurtele said he was disappointed that the measure was turned down after it had received unanimous support of doctors and dentists here. He attributed the defeat to the belief of many that the health measure would infringe on their rights.

NEW DEMANDS BY STEELMEN

The union warned the companies if they refuse to resume negotiations on a company-by-company basis, it would seek contempt of court citations for refusal to bargain.

CHOU EN-LAI
. . . on Boxing Day

Chou Offers Parley On Border

PEKING (Reuters) — Premier Chou En-lai has offered to begin talks with Prime Minister Nehru beginning Dec. 26 on the long-standing frontier dispute between Red China and India.

He suggested they meet in "any place in China," or else in, the Burmese capital of Rangoon.

In a 3,000-word letter sent to Nehru Thursday and published here tonight, Chou welcomed the Indian leader's proposal to stop sending out patrols and said China had already given orders to that effect to its border guards.

Referring to charges made in an Indian note to Peking Sunday that China had maltreated Indian personnel captured in recent border incidents, Chou said that his had been "arbitrarily asserted" by India "disregarding the objective facts."

Replying to a letter from Nehru on Nov. 16, Chou said the two countries should consult on how far each should withdraw its troops from the border.

Chou wrote that pending agreement on a withdrawal along the entire border, China is prepared to try for a partial solution by applying Nehru's proposal that no troops be stationed at the northeast outpost of Longju or other disputed places on the border.

Big 4 Gathers For Crucial Talks

(From Times News Services)

PARIS—Leaders of the United States, Britain and West Germany converged today on Paris for a summit conference with France—already in trouble because of a Franco-American dispute over NATO and Algeria.

The belief in the allied camp was that only a face-to-face meeting Saturday between President Eisenhower and President Charles de Gaulle could blunt the sharp differences and permit the western "big four" to try to chart a dynamic approach to the end of the cold war.

Eisenhower arrived at Paris by train this afternoon from Toulon to a formal welcome by De Gaulle.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew in from London this morning, followed by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer from Bonn.

The western big four planned at their three-day parley starting Saturday to place the problem of ending the nuclear age arms race at the top of the list in preparing for their meeting next spring with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

This approach had the ringing endorsement of all 15 NATO foreign ministers who Thursday urged the major western powers to take "every opportunity" to try to defuse the world powder keg through worldwide disarmament.

An air of tension hung over the western council table as the diplomats awaited the confrontation of Eisenhower, fresh from his triumphal "peace mission" of Asian, African and European countries, and De Gaulle, smarting under American criticism of his country's military policies.

There also were differences between Eisenhower and De Gaulle over the civil war in Algeria.

Concentrating on Disarmament

Eisenhower discussed the situation Thursday with President Habib Bourguiba of newly-independent Tunisia and both agreed the Algerian war was a "cause of grave concern."

The decision of the four Western leaders to concentrate on foolproof, controlled disarmament shoved partially into the background the explosive issues of Berlin and German unification—the problems which originally touched off the current diplomatic merry-go-round.

Macmillan said at the airport he is convinced a unified approach to the East will be produced in the weekend sessions.

Adenauer said he came for talks "aimed at the welfare and peace of Europe and the world."

Eisenhower, meanwhile, fit and cheerful after a three-day Mediterranean cruise, landed in France to an echoing 21-gun salute at Toulon harbor.

At the dockside ceremony Eisenhower said that while "not always has everything been clear sailing between us . . . under General de Gaulle France and the United States are part of a great coalition, and we are determined from a position of strength to pursue peace as much as we possibly can."

"We are sure that one day we shall win out."

Pearson Favors Free Vote on Death Penalty

(From Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Opposition Leader Lester Pearson is in favor of a free vote on capital punishment at the next session of Parliament.

It is possible that all leaders of Canada's three national parties may cast their ballots against capital punishment. Mr. Pearson's attitude on the question of a free vote was reported here today.

For weeks here pressure has been building up for members to be given the right to vote as their conscience and not the party dictates on the controversial question of capital punishment.

The question will arise in the House as it has on previous occasions over a private member's bill to abolish the death sentence, being introduced by Frank McGee, (PC-York-Scarboro).

Full Effort on Columbia By B.C. Urged by Fulton

BY TOM GOULD
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Justice Minister Davie Fulton indicated today Ottawa hopes B.C. will concentrate all its efforts toward development of the Columbia River—and not the Peace.

Mr. Fulton was commenting on the news from Washington Tuesday that the International Joint Commission has reached agreement on a draft of principles under which the Columbia can be developed by Canada and the U.S.

He said the federal government's expectations are that B.C. will be able to see the realization of an ambition in which we have always had faith—that the Columbia River will be the next logical great power development in B.C."

Under questioning, he said: "It is well known there have been suggestions in B.C. that the Peace River should precede the Columbia development."

"We hope the B.C. government will devote maximum effort now to a co-operative development on the Columbia on the basis of the mutually advantageous terms the IJC has agreed to in principle."

Mr. Fulton, like other federal cabinet ministers, was extremely reluctant to enter the Columbia-Peace controversy on a no-holds-barred basis.

The fear in Ottawa is that any statements that would arouse the anger of Premier Bennett could serve to hold up federal-provincial agreement on successive phases of the Columbia program.

However, Mr. Fulton made it clear where Ottawa stands.

He was asked whether Ottawa would stop the Peace River project through legislative means available to it—the Navigable Waters Protection Act was cited as a possibility, since the Peace River is a navigable river.

"We would rather not concern ourselves with any problems that may arise on the Peace," he said. "We are concentrating on the Columbia. We want to get on with the job."

SPECIAL NEW COLLEGE FOR THE TOP BRAINS

TORONTO (CP)—A college for top graduate students, the first of its kind in Canada, is to be established at the University of Toronto by the Massey Foundation.

The college will provide living quarters for a select group of students accepted by Toronto's School of Graduate studies. It is expected to attract the most promising university brains in Canada.

To be called Massey College, the building will cost between $1,000,000 and $1,500,000, and will house at least 50 students. Construction may begin next summer.

Chiang convinces himself and his followers that the Peking regime is about to fall and that, when it does, his army, joined by the rebellious armies of Communism, will liberate the homeland.

If that hope is deferred indefinitely can the embryonic state of Taiwan adjust itself to a shattering disappointment? Can Taiwan exist permanently as a separate nation and ally of the United States without its hope, or its myth?

The United States thinks it can, also hopes that China will some day rebel against Communism, but does not count on that possibility.

The people of Taiwan, in the American view, will gradually reconcile themselves to an improving life on their island, where most of them have always lived, as a native generation replaces the mainland exiles in the control of government.

The situation in Taiwan is meaningless until you understand that Chiang Kai-shek brought with him some of the ablest men in China, an elite of soldiers, scholars and business leaders, the men who inherited the revolution of Sun Yat-sen and thought they were building a new China.

Military Chiefs of High Calibre

Whether Chiang and the grafters around him betrayed that revolution is too large a subject to be considered here but on one point my mind is clear from personal observation:

The men commanding the military forces of Taiwan today are as fine a group of men as I have ever met anywhere and, in the American judgment, as able as they are dedicated to their great hope.

How much of their devotion is shared by the politicians of Chiang's elaborate government I cannot tell (though I shall have more to report on that score later) but in the echelon just below the top a stranger, if he knows anything about men, must be deeply moved when the exiles learn to trust him and confess their faith—shyly at first and then with naked agony.

At this distance it is impossible to convey the atmosphere of the army, navy and air academies where the veteran officers of the mainland are teaching a new generation, natives of Taiwan, the art of war and what might be called the religion of anti-Communism.

The new elite of young officers, picked by rigorous examination, not by birth, and subjected to an almost ferocious four-year university course, live a monastic life in bare barracks, silent class rooms, hot parade grounds and laboratories of science.

Personalities Transcend Power

A few miles away the well-equipped army of 600,000 men, constantly infused with new blood by universal conscription, guards the island coast. The little navy of destroyers and frigates constantly prowls the Strait. Jet planes, deployed beside the huge airfields, are ready to take off in three minutes. Shipyards, repair shops and a huge oil refinery work the clock around.

More impressive to the civilian than this outward power, as nourished by the United States, are the human beings behind it.

Far from the capital of Taipei, I talked, for instance, with a general who fought the Japanese and Communists for 12 years, commanded an army at the age of 35, was critically wounded and never lost a battle; an ace pilot from last year's air battle of Quemoy (Taiwan's legendary Battle of Britain) who, recently released for failing eyesight, was simply heart-broken; a tough-looking administrator who, on the verge of tears, told me that if he reached the mainland he would kiss that sacred soil, and I believed him; a Chinese scholar whose son is in a Communist jail; a business man who, pacing his office in helpless fury cried out: "If I don't get home, my son will, or his son — we can wait!"

How long can they wait? Who can follow the aging Chiang, the indispensable man, the repository of the hope, the symbol of the dream whose errors are denied or forgiven? No one knows that but anyone can discern the dream, for it is a simple thing as old and instinctive as humankind.

The dream is home, where the exiles' parents, wives and often their children are waiting, the beloved ancestral land a few miles away in the mists of Formosa Strait but much further in the mists of a sundered world.

SUMMIT DATE FIXED BY WEST

PARIS (AP) — A draft American-British-French note has been prepared for delivery to the Kremlin before Christmas, Western diplomats reported tonight.

In it, the informants said, the Western three proposes that Russia join them at summit talks in Geneva in late April or mid-May.

Energy Board To Study Use Of Peace Power

'Illegal' to Let New Panel Decide On Application Itself Says Bennett

By PETE LOUDON

The new British Columbia Energy Board eventually will study and recommend best uses for the 4,000,000 horsepower of the Peace River, Premier Bennett and Dr. Gordon Shrum, board chairman, said Thursday.

They had jointly announced earlier that the new board would have no say in the anticipated granting of a water licence to Peace River Power Development Company — and this remains unchanged, they said.

But they appeared irked with a demand from Opposition Leader Robert Strachan that the new board—and the premier—resign if the Peace River power project is exempted from the board's field of endeavor.

POWER GRID

Their statements indicate that when the Peace goes into production, the board will make recommendations concerning the part the northern power resource will play in formation of a power grid which will criss-cross the province to assure a continued supply of energy to industry in all sections.

"The Peace power scheme is much too complex a subject for a snap decision by this board. There isn't time to make the study warranted by the nature of the project," said Dr. Shrum.

ANY DAY

(The development company of Wenner-Gren, B.C. Electric and British interests is expected to file its development plans any day with the water comptroller. Deadline for filing is Dec. 31.)

Dr. Shrum said, however, "the function of the board is to integrate power development in the province and will inevitably consider the Peace development and its place in B.C. development, even though we will not be considering the application itself."

Premier Bennett made his remarks as an answer to Mr. Strachan's demand for resignations.

"It just shows how unconstitutional the leader of the opposition is," said the premier.

NO ALTERNATIVE

"If he were a student of constitutional matters, he would know the government had no alternative but to allow the application to be processed in the usual legal manner, in accordance with the laws of the province.

"Of course the energy board will deal with the integration of the Peace with other resources," he added.

Some observers felt the two statements were an acknowledgment of the case put forward for delaying the Peace, in a brief from Mr. Strachan to the board.

Based on prior statements by Dr. Shrum, who had noted the need for a board with authority to plan over-all power development, and on statements by senior technicians of the B.C. Power Commission, the brief provided figures to show the current and anticipated power needs of B.C. could be answered faster and cheaper, by development of other resources ahead of the Peace.

Cited by the BCPC were the Clearwater, a tributary of the Fraser; the Homathko, which empties into Bute Inlet, and the Columbia.

JETS COLLIDE—2 RESCUED

TRENTON, Ont. (UPI)—Two survivors were rescued today from the crash scene of two U.S. Air Force jet planes in northern Ontario and there was hope other survivors might be located.

A Royal Canadian Air Force and a U.S. Air Force helicopter each rescued one U.S. airman from the scene, 42 miles northwest of a U.S. radar station at Pagwa, Ont. The RCAF identified both men and reported their condition was good.

An RCAF 'copter from here, picked up 1st Lt. Theodore C. Adams, 24, of Greenville, S.C., and flew him to Pagwa for medical treatment. The USAF helicopter, based at Kincheloe, Mich., rescued Capt. Roy N. Minor, 34, of Manchester, Tenn.

Adams told RCAF officials that he heard three shots during the night. Minor said he fired only two, and based on these reports, other survivors were believed to be in the area. Two RCAF Dakotas, an Otter and two helicopters continued an intensive search over the crash area.

The in-flight collision occurred yesterday between a U.S. B-47 Stratojet bomber and an F-102 fighter. Wreckage of the two planes was located four miles apart.

DEATH SENTENCE POSSIBLE

Cuba to Try U.S. Newsman

HAVANA (UPI) — Premier Fidel Castro announced early today that Miami Herald reporter James Buchanan will be tried by a "revolutionary tribunal" which could sentence him to death.

In a four-hour television speech, Castro rejected appeals from the Inter-American Press Association for the release of Buchanan, who was arrested in the hotel room of prison fugitive Austin Young.

Authorities in Pinar Del Rio Province had asked the Supreme Court to decide whether Buchanan should be tried by a court martial or a civil court which could not impose the death sentence.

Castro said Buchanan will be tried on charges of complicity in Young's escape from Pinar Del Rio prison a week ago Tuesday night, 36 hours before he was recaptured in the hotel room where Buchanan was arrested about two hours later.

The premier rejected an appeal from William Cowles, editor of the Spokane Spokesman-Review and president of the IAPA, who had argued that Buchanan should be freed because he had committed no crime.

PROOF CLAIMED

"How can the IAPA say from abroad that its information shows the newsman is blameless? . . ." Castro demanded. "We have proof of his complicity, so the least they (IAPA officials) can expect is that he will be tried.

"This newspaper man will go before the revolutionary tribunals . . . the courts will decide according to the proofs before them, and then will take corresponding action. Meanwhile, they will have to wait."

The premier charged that Buchanan paid Young's hotel bill and furnished other aid to the fugitive, who had been sentenced to serve 30 years in prison for "organizing an armed anti-government conspiracy."

Buchanan told army intelligence agents when he was arrested that he paid the hotel bill with money given him by Young. He said the only other aid he gave the fugitive was to buy an elastic bandage for his ankle, injured in the prison break.

The Miami reporter came to Havana the day after Young escaped to check a telephoned tip on his whereabouts. He interviewed Young in the hotel room and filed the story before he was arrested.

DRUG PRICE 'GOUGING' HIT

Charges were aired Wednesday by Victoria Labor Council delegates that the public is being "gouged" by drug costs.

A resolution was passed urging the B.C. Federation of Labor to request that the provincial government set up its own drug manufacturing program and enter the distribution field.

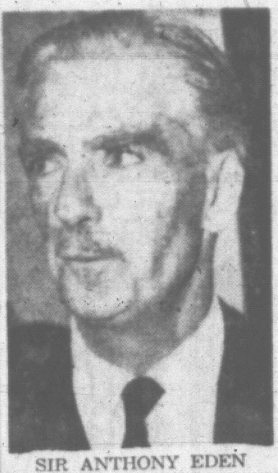
EDEN SPEAKS OUT ON U.K. POLICY IN SUEZ CRISIS

Canada Helped Achieve Aim



SIR ANTHONY EDEN

TORONTO (CP)—The British government expected to bring about the creation of an international peace force through its intervention in the Suez crisis, Sir Anthony Eden said in a filmed television interview shown in Canada Thursday night.

That was one of two things Britain hoped to achieve, said Sir Anthony, prime minister of Britain at the time. Its other aim was to localize the conflict and the success of this was a "very fortunate thing."

"I've always thought the United Nations ought to have an international force," he said. It was achieved "thanks very largely to what Canada did."

Asked by interviewer Blair Fraser whether he thought Canada deserted Britain at the time of the 1956 Egypt-Israel conflict, Sir Anthony said he didn't feel it was up to him "to pronounce what Canada did either way."

But, he added: ". . . if the United States had taken the line that Canada took, the position in the Middle East today would be very much better than unfortunately it is. Beyond that I cannot go."

It was Canada that suggested formation of the United Nations Emergency Force.

He said the West is doing "fairly well, but only fairly well," in its conflict with communism. The Western powers were not as effective as Russia in "putting across what we do."

Sir Anthony said it was important that the West blow its own trumpets. He had in mind "something a little dramatic for Africa which we could all take part in rather than each of us—in our own perfectly good ways—doing something separate."

Such a plan for Africa would "get away from the colonial conception, which is the bugbear of all things," he said.

Pause in the Summit March

THE WESTERN ALLIES ARE meeting in Paris with an alarming display of opposition by President de Gaulle. In direct conflict are the French leader's vision of the destiny of France and the practical facts of life in an ideologically divided world. But regardless of their differences of opinion, the senior NATO partners cannot ignore the looming threat of Russia's huge array of missiles, and behind this the shadow of Mr. Khrushchev's inscrutable, waiting figure.

The impetus to an early summit meeting given by Mr. Khrushchev's American visit and the Camp David talks has largely dissipated, and with it the likelihood of holding a Big Four gathering before next summer.

Mr. Khrushchev himself, who some time ago appeared anxious to meet at the summit with all speed, is now apparently well content to wait a few months or even longer. Mr. Eisenhower's world tour was planned on the basis of a delayed summit meeting, while President de Gaulle favors a lengthy wait and has ensured it by inviting Mr. Khrushchev to Paris in March. Mr. Macmillan, who of all the Western leaders was most urgent in his efforts to hold the meeting, has bowed to the inevitable.

The West, indeed, may usefully employ the intervening months, for the allies have yet to reach agreement on a summit agenda and a policy.

The motives for Mr. Khrushchev's surprising change in attitude have roused considerable speculation in the West. The Soviet leader ascribes it to a desire to be cooperative and reasonable. He accepted General de Gaulle's invitation as a logical pre-summit move. However, it is not likely that this would have changed Mr. Khrushchev's views unless there were other factors involved.

One of these may be that time, in a sense, is on the Russian's side. He has little to lose by waiting a few months, while much could be gained.

The disunity of the West may by no means have reached a peak yet. Discord in NATO involves basic considerations which the current meetings in Paris may not resolve, and Britain's difficulties with the European free trade area conceivably could intensify before next summer.

A major factor, too, may be the fact that next summer the United States will be well into its presidential election campaign, and Mr. Eisenhower will have only a few more months in office. It is arguable that the Republican Administration, hopeful of going to the polls with a diplomatic achievement to its credit, may be willing to concede points to Mr. Khrushchev in return for a tangible agreement of some sort. In any case, that may be Mr. Khrushchev's reasoning.

The next few months' too, may see impressive Soviet advances in rocketry and astronautical experiments. Another success such as the first sputnik or the moon shot would enable Russia to go to a summit conference with enhanced prestige and perhaps an enhanced armaments position.

These are only the West's guesses regarding Mr. Khrushchev's thoughts, but they have a logical basis. The delay, however, although it slows the momentum gained last fall, need not necessarily be to the disadvantage of the West if the Allies unify their strained strategy in the meantime.

Experience Endorsed

MUNICIPALITIES OF GREATer Victoria yesterday followed the voting pattern set by the city last week to indicate a wholesome appreciation for the men who have directed their local governments.

Reeve Murdoch has been overwhelmingly endorsed in Oak Bay to become the fourth of four chief magistrates returned to office in this community. Councillors of experience have been re-elected and new blood has come into municipal office only where no incumbent stood.

No more sweeping demonstration of satisfaction could be shown by the respective electorates for the administrations closest to them.

As in Victoria, so also in Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt, fluoridation has been soundly defeated. But if protagonists of this method of improving children's teeth have failed to carry the day, they have shown by the support afforded them that a very large number of people recognize the benefits of making up a chemical deficiency in the area's water supply. The job ahead is one of continued education.

It is distressing to note that Saanich school district 63 has failed to provide the required majority to pass a major school construction bylaw. Those supporting this essential development fell short by 104 votes of acquiring the necessary 60 per cent. Reeve Chatterton has called for an early re-submission of the bylaw and with more intensive work it will doubtless pass, as have others of a similar nature turned down on the first run elsewhere in the community.

Highly encouraging is Saanch's decision to establish a special half-mill levy to create a reserve fund for purchase of park sites. The northern municipality has shown its recognition of future needs in this respect and is now on the way to making provision for the recreation space its growing population will require.

In two districts of the same region expensive sewer bylaws have been turned down. The problem of disposal remains acute and further studies will have to be undertaken on means to reach a solution.

In none of the municipalities was the total vote low in comparison to those cast in recent years. There is still, however, lots of room for improvement and will continue to be when fewer than half those entitled to mark ballots turn out to record their opinions.

In the Voice of Sport

YOUNG MR. CHRISTOPHER Chataway, who pushed Dr. Roger Bannister to an under-four-minute mile, and John Landy to the same feat before accomplishing it himself, is speaking out against apartheit in Britain's Parliament.

The recently elected Conservative member of North Lewisham has balanced his stand against racial discrimination with an understanding of the cause of racial antipathy in his own constituency. He quotes railroad workers in his district who have told him: "It's all very well for you to talk about no color discrimination; your job isn't involved."

He recognizes the delicate position in which the British Government is placed in this issue, and the desirability of avoiding a sharp breach with South Africa before Prime Minister Macmillan tours that country early in the new year.

But he also points out means by which disapproval of South African policy might be shown apart from formal government censure. He suggests, for instance, that the Marylebone Cricket Club, which runs Britain's cricket teams in test matches, might decline to play against South Africa as long as the latter country persists in racial discrimination in selecting its team. Such action, he says, might impress the sports-loving South Africans more than criticism expressed at the United Nations.

An athletic boycott, bringing home to the South Africans their shortcomings might be a soft impeachment. It would nevertheless be noticed.

And it could also furnish a lead to such other Commonwealth countries as New Zealand, recently stirred by the action of its famous rugby club which left Maoris off the team selected to tour South Africa to avoid embarrassment.

No Paul Revere Available

SIX NEW JERSEY CONSULTing engineers who work in New York City have revived the American revolutionary cry "No taxation without representation" because New York State charges them income tax though they do not live in the state and presumably do not elect anyone to state office there.

The engineers have apparently suggested that if this condition of affairs is to continue, the country might as well be handed back to England.

Senator Clifford P. Case, Republican of New Jersey, doesn't agree. Transferring the land to the British would only complicate things, he says.

Indeed, it would. Hasn't Britain had enough trouble disposing of real estate in Ghana, India and a dozen other places around the world? And who would refund the $11 Manhattan Island payment to which colonists from what tribe if New York were to start again from the beginning?

What Can Be Done Next Year

Tobin

NOW is the time of year, wrote the gardening experts, to clean up the garden and perform all those little chores that get the place ready for the long winter. They wrote it in September and by "now" they meant then. But for me, and thousands like me, the advice was a delayed broadcast. For most of us the "now" has only just arrived, and for some of us it is still approaching. The result is that the little garden chores that prepare the place for winter are only getting under way. There'll be more than a hint of spring in the air before many of them are completed.

Take the small matter of the vegetable patch, for instance. As the experts explained it, this should be dug over once the vegetables are harvested, so that the soil can be broken up by the winter frosts.

An excellent idea. But note that condition: "when the vegetables are harvested." It didn't take a horticultural lawyer to spot that loop-hole. Hundreds of us were through it like squirrels through a knot-hole as soon as we saw it.

Forgotten Vegetables

I don't have in mind the cabbage, kale and other winter crops which the experts love to describe. Naturally, they would be in a patch by themselves and would provide no obstruction to digging over the main area.

What I have in mind — and in the soil too — is the late, late, late crop of spring vegetables which somehow never reached the kitchen. Although these specimens would never rate as food, or even fodder, they serve admirably as unharvested crops, thereby saving their owner from having to plunge fork into earth for a lot of post-seasonal digging.

There is, for example — and many a garden can duplicate this — that partial row of straggly carrots which never came to anything. Perhaps they were planted too late, perhaps the seed fell on stony ground or withered under the stony glares of neighboring gardeners. In any case they stand, a pathetic, pale row of bedraggled misfits who never had a chance.

For them the world was too cold, too wet and too dark; they were ill-housed, ill fed and ill-clothed, and not even the most charitable of charitable institutions would start a fund for them. So weak are their pitiable stems, only the close crush of chickweed keeps them from falling over.

(The chickweed is lush, strong and rampant. How two types of plant could inhabit the same patch of soil and develop so differently, it is difficult to explain.)

Lettuce Wait

If the carrots do not qualify as "unharvested crops" there are several heads of lettuce which might save the day. You might think in July or August that a cabbage and a lettuce could survive into winter equally well. But this is not the case. I can prove it in my garden.

It is hard to say at this point why these few heads were left. Perhaps they had turned a little brown, or were drooping; perhaps they had already become lost in a wave of green chickweed —one of the first of a dozen or more waves which inundate the patch each year. Perhaps we had merely become tired of picking, washing and munching lettuce leaves. In any case, there they stand, silent reminders of a season gone, an opportunity lost, a job undone, and chlorophyll wasted.

But not entirely wasted. For if it were not for that row of lumpy sentinels, fighting it out on this line if it takes all summer and winter too, the gardener would be forced to concede that the harvest had been gathered. And having gone that far, he would be forced to agree that the patch must be dug up for its winter airing. And having gone that far, he would be forced to dig it.

Plainly, this is a case where two heads are better than one, if these are unplucked lettuce and the reluctant gardener's respectively.

There are other fall chores around the place, of course, which with a little ingenuity and luck on the part of the gardener may safely be ignored until snow flies and no further excuses are needed.

Big Blow

Leaf raking, for instance. This is a problem which any good November wind can solve, if given a chance. If you can contrive to live to windward of your neighbor's trees while he lives to leeward of yours, you've got it made.

The problem may intensify a little if no storm removes it from your lawn. But a little tenacity will carry the gardener into December, by which time anyone can see that the leaves are too wet to rake. Why, already they are well on their way to forming compost, and if left on the lawn they will soon sink into the six-inch-high grass and enrich the soil in a most gardeningly way.

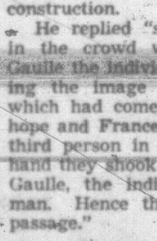
This may cause problems next spring, of course, when the grass begins to grow like crazy. But we are concerned at this point only with fall and winter problems, and no doubt by March or April we shall have thought of something to meet the new threat.

As one Saanich statesman has put it, "what's the use of planning, Saanich may not be here ten years from now." Any sporting gardener would take a chance on that. Who knows, indeed, whether it will be here even next year: a thought which offers a possible—and quickly seized on — solution to the problems of vegetable patches, leaves, knee-deep lawn grass and numerous other things.

FROM PARIS

By JOSEPH ALSOP

De Gaulle: A Mysterious, Glacial Figure



Alsop

THE giant, mysterious, and glacial figure of Charles de Gaulle towers over the Allied scene here, rather in the awe-inspiring manner of the statue of the Commendatore in Mozart's "Don Giovanni." A good many even fear that De Gaulle will end by dragging the Western alliance down into ruin, as the statue of the commander, come to life, ended by dragging Don Juan down into hell. The fear is excessive, yet it begins to be urgent to penetrate the mystery and to see the motives of the man himself. The best clue perhaps lies in De Gaulle's habit of speaking of himself sometimes in the first person and sometimes in the third.

In his superb memoirs of the last war, this peculiarity is carried so far that a single sentence describes a crowd "cheering Charles de Gaulle" and "taking my hand." A friend once asked him to explain this strange grammatical construction.

He replied "simply that the people in the crowd were not cheering De Gaulle the individual. They were cheering the image of Charles de Gaulle which had come to stand for France's hope and France's freedom. Hence the third person in this passage. But the hand they shook belonged to Charles de Gaulle, the individual, all too human man. Hence the first person in this passage."

Curious Mixture

There is no exact parallel for the curious mixture of personal modesty and deep, unshakable sense of mission which the foregoing story reveals. It also reveals the reason for the extreme touchiness which American leaders have complained about, from Franklin Roosevelt to Dwight D. Eisenhower.

De Gaulle is quick to resent any light treatment, not as an individual, but because any supposed affront to Charles de Gaulle-the-image constitutes an indirect affront to France herself.

There is another trait that increases the seeming mystery, too. Rank for rank's sake is not important to most Americans, but it is deeply important to De Gaulle. Perhaps this is because he was formed in the intensely hierarchical French army.

At any rate, since De Gaulle is so rank-conscious, any seeming-failure to accord France her traditional rank as a great power drives him into a rage that may seem irrational to us but is entirely rational to him.

No doubt there is something of this in De Gaulle's habit of referring to the NATO commander, Gen. Lauris Norstad, as "ce general americain qui me gene." Norstad does not trouble De Gaulle as an individual. But De Gaulle is certainly troubled by the implication of national rank in the choice of an American to command all NATO's forces.

If this seems petty, and not without reason, there is still another element in the De Gaulle mystery which has a certain grandeur.

Sense of History

His sense and view of history are grand in the most literal sense of the word. He thinks about the historic process, not in petty current terms, nor in terms of mere decades, but always in terms of centuries and millenia. Nations, he plainly considers, are the great actors in this process. Equally plainly, he believes that nations endure while political systems wither and disappear.

Thus there are many signs that De Gaulle speaks of a Franco-Russian understanding as potentially useful, not merely as a safeguard against German aggression, but also to counter "the Anglo-Saxon attempts at hegemony."

De Gaulle does not look at the modern world through the same eyes as the other Western leaders. If driven too far, he is also capable of actions that would downright horrify, not merely the other Western leaders but also most of his own people.

These facts about De Gaulle have to be faced, because they are facts. At the same time, De Gaulle's judgments have been right too often.

The man himself is too big, too courageous, too superb in his general style. As the long awaited political expression of the brilliant rebirth of France, he is, very simply, too important. For all these reasons, petty irritation, patronage, mockery, and self-pity under harassment, are all equally out of place in Allied dealings with De Gaulle.

Troubled these dealings surely will be, until a more vigorous American government can initiate a profound re-examination of the strategic basis of the Western alliance. But if and when this sadly overdue re-examination is finally made, one may hope De Gaulle will be, not the ruin of the alliance, but one of its great strengths.

Free to Take or Not

Fluoridation is over and dead, let us hope, in Victoria.

And so once again, several thousand John Hampden's have said that they would like to live as they please.

Now what—to use the modern expression—really burns me up—is this.

You quote a Dr. McLuhan, "I hope they all use their brains and show up Victoria," and also this, your editorial as follows:

"The decision in this category proves once again that research, study, and scientific preparation will always have difficulty in combatting simple prejudice."

Now Dr. McLuhan may have a brain, But equally, there may be other brains.

The whole issue, to me, is a simple as this:

I do not want fluorine in my tap water, and who in blazes are you, Dr. McLuhan, to say I must have it?

There are so many do-gooders and zealots running around these days, who, after arranging their own lives to their complete satisfaction, have time left over to rearrange the lives of other people.

I prefer to be left free to take or not to take, fluorine, chocolate malted milk shakes, Frank Sinatra or Dr. McLuhan and all busybodies.

Timely

Permit me to congratulate you on your editorial on birth control of Dec. 14. It was fair, factual, and courageous.

Would it be of any interest to support your position with an experience of my own? A few years ago I was speaking to a brilliant Indian scholar, a teacher in his own land. I told him that I as a Christian felt "unclean inside" when I read of a famine in India and then thought of wheat piled up in the fields of Western Canada. But my dilemma of sheer torture was this — if we rushed food to aid these starving men, women, and children, we would keep a million people alive (speaking in round numbers.) This time next year there would be approximately that same number plus a great many more— and this in a land that cannot support its present population. "Frankly," he said, "sending food to India is not the answer. The solution lies with India herself."

The sight of one hungry child is more than a normal person can bear. The thought of millions tears his soul. Modern medicine has extended the life span, and at the same time has decreased the infant mortality rate. Surely there is no value in bringing untold numbers into a world when it is obvious suffering and want would be their unhappy lot from the day they are born until they die.

I have the utmost respect and regard for the religious convictions of those who differ from me. Not for a moment would I assume an attitude of unkind criticism. But here, surely, is an instance where the exercise of God given common sense is imperative. Your editorial was timely, and I wish to thank you for it.

Farmers' Market

Market gardeners and chicken raisers are doing well in spite of the destruction and closing of the old city market and display great active initiative once more.

The store at 618 Pandora has been fitted for the use as the Farmers Market. The City market was closed on Wednesday August 5, but the active stall holders started promptly on Saturday August 8 in full blast. The nine private growers have carried on each week since that date and grow active every week, without losing one week.

The store only holds nine stalls, and there are more growers who wish to come into the scheme. The producers have their own committee, chairman and treasurer, so at last they are under good management, being clear of the former mismanagement of the old municipal official.

Here is a list of commodities: freshly picked vegetables, flowers cut and in pots, apples, acorn squash, large supply of eggs and chickens also butter, jams and jellies, cauliflowers and carrots.

The names of the stall holders are Mr. John Peddle, Mr. A. Randy, Mr. John Woods, Mr. Sam Jones, Mr. J. Janson, Mrs. F. C. Blake, Mrs. J. E. Grant, Mrs. A. Stavreen and Mrs. Halling.

Housekeepers are invited to attend the market on Saturdays and Wednesdays when they can make their fine purchases with the knowledge that everything was picked fresh.

ON THE TIMES By ART STOTT

The Message Comes Through

SOME people think that telepathy is the mode of communication for the future. Others hold that it is a gift enjoyed by some specially, or highly, developed individuals past and present.

Stott

Maybe they're right. I think it is a casual development from a quarter-century or less of sympathetic marriage. It is a form of telepathy which allows a wife to pick up a conversation dropped a day or two before and resume it, without explanation or introduction, with her husband.

It is also the means by which a husband can get the message without a word from the wife.

You glance up from your book and catch the lady of the house looking at and beyond you. On her face is a look at once abstracted, slightly pained and infinitely-patient. From her comes a stream of consciousness which cartoonists draw with those jagged lightning strokes beamed your way. No sound issues from her lips, but you know what she's telling you.

* * *

It goes like this; with the quotes enclosing thoughts some writers surround by parentheses.

"This is the lull before the Christmas season. Maybe you ought to use it to consider the days ahead.

"You will recall other Christmas seasons. How can you forget them? I agree with you that 'tis the season to be jolly, but contemplate that jolliness.

"You will remember that there are certain convivial practices which seem to dull the finer sensibilities. Perhaps it might be well to consider these in relation to jolliness. Nothing can be more painful to others whose sensitivities have not been dulled than an over-expression of heartiness. Please remember that.

"Let's go a little further. Under this same spirit it occurs to some people who are no longer in their youth that they can imitate with some verisimilitude the gallantry of the late Chief Justice Oliver Wenedell Holmes, as he was portrayed in 'The Magnificent Yankee.'

"It would be profitable if it also occurred to some of these would-be imitators that Oliver Wendell Holmes was a very exceptional person. Not everyone can put on the mantle of gallantry and wear it as well as he. What I'm trying to say is that a sweeping bow to a lady guest loses something when it ends in an over-balanced stagger.

"It might also be worth remembering that some Christmas gatherings are not always the most appropriate occasions on which to demonstrate a flair for scholarship. Quite frankly, there are a number of people who don't enjoy an over-moist aesthete reciting excellent verse when the simple sibilants take on that 'ish' pronounciation.

"Then again it might be worthwhile now to decide which little anecdotes are suitable for which company. There are, actually, quite a few people who don't accept the theory of that 'sovereign alchemist whose logic absolute can the two and seventy jarring sects confute.'

"I'll break that down for you. Just because you are talking to someone and both of you are holding beakers, it doesn't mean that when you talk through yours, the other person will be talking through his. His may contain tomato juice. Follow me? Watch what you say.

* * *

"Just one other little point. It has come to my notice, over the years, that in the Christmas-New Year period you are seized with the spirit of brotherhood and sisterhood too. For that I admire you. But watch how you express brotherhood and sisterhood. Keep the brotherly-sisterly demonstration within reasonable bounds.

"If you find it necessary to use some physical symbol, there's absolutely nothing wrong with a gentle peck on the brow or cheek of the person who may be feeling sisterly, but don't slip a cog and start wrestling."

This, I repeat, is the type of telepathy you may encounter during the lull before the Christmas season. It has so many advantages over the spoken word. The spoken word may not have the strength as testimony in a domestic trial that the written word has, but it can be repeated in evidence.

The telepathic communication has no such identity. It can be denied completely by the person from whom it came. The thought never entered her head, wouldn't think of such a thing.

But you did get the message, didn't you, bub? and don't forget it.

ISLAND VIEWPOINT

Warning

COWICHAN LEADER—No one would accuse Harold Winch of wishing to take over the Conservative party in B.C., but Conservatives will not argue with his desire to check the rise in production costs in order that our export trade can continue to prosper.

Mr. Winch's comments deserve the wide publicity they have received. His elevation from B.C. to federal politics and now his world tour have deepened his sense of the fundamental laws of economics at work in this semi-literate world. He is anxious to retrieve B.C.'s lost reputation, as a land of industrial promise, not of crippling strikes.

Canada needs more in political office who are not afraid to speak out and express their opinions on our shortcomings. The fact that what Mr. Winch says has been said for several years by others need not diminish its importance. It is a very welcome pronouncement. Labor knows enough of Harold Winch's political courage to realize that here is no flim-flam.

What heed is taken of his words by both industry and labor none can forecast. His warning that we must control costs is one more to be added to the growing chorus by means of which action to meet changes in economic climate is gauged.

Supermarket

COMOX DISTRICT FREE PRESS—Is the Department of National Defence at Comox an air force station or is it a giant supermarket in business for the purpose of making enough money to provide what is the equivalent of a luxury hotel with almost limitless facilities for its patrons?

Recent stories indicate that the air force is more concerned with making money to provide luxury messes and other recreation facilities, than it is with defence.

A life in the air force—which is chosen and not a matter of conscription—is a pretty good one with reasonable pay, food, clothing, recreation facilities provided to a degree not open to a majority of civilians.

What is being questioned is the air force's right to make these facilities and concessions available to the public to the detriment of local businessmen who are paying high taxes to keep air force personnel in what are undeniably very good and in some cases, soft jobs.

People now stationed at Comox should be thankful that there is a station here and that they aren't spending their time miles away from anywhere in sub-zero temperatures for a good part of the year.

They should remember too that their theatres, swimming pools, curling rinks and $600,000 cocktail bars, generally called messes, are provided in the first place by the taxpayer for whom they are now spoiling business.

The air force motto "through difficulties to the stars," should perhaps be changed to "through merchandising to comfort."

Freight Rate Probers Adjourn to New Year

OTTAWA (CP) — Still caught in Prairie-railway verbal crossfire, Canada's royal commission on transportation Thursday adjourned its hearings on Western grain freight rates until mid-January.

Juggling with dates in a bid to please everyone, the royal commission finally decided to postpone its next public hearings in Ottawa for one week—starting Jan. 18 instead of Jan. 11.

The commission also set its itinerary for regional hearings in Western Canada.

Sessions are to be held in Winnipeg Feb. 8, 9 and 10; Regina Feb. 12, 13 and 15; Edmonton Feb. 16, 17 and 18; Victoria Feb. 19, 20 and Vancouver Feb. 22, 23. Place of the hearings in each city will be announced later.

It was decided that the cost experts of the Prairie governments and grain interests will meet with the railway economists Jan. 13-15 either here or in Montreal.

16 Sworn In As Canadians

Sixteen new Canadians from Italy, Germany, Holland, Hungary and Poland were sworn in by Judge J. B. Clearihue at Victoria County Court Thursday.

They were:

Rudolf Karl Langer, Gerrit Jorhan Lucas, Franz Willi Paul Ollhoff, Marjatta Anita Partridge, Elizabeth Skiba, Bodo Hans Unger, Eduard Wylicil, Adalbert Zajonskowski.

Judge Clearihue advised the new Canadians they must be prepared to transfer allegiance from the lands of their birth to the land of their adoption in order to be good Canadians.

Afterwards, as is customary, they were entertained by the Greater Victoria Citizenship Council at a coffee party.

Hammarskjold Aide Urges Laos Program

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's personal representative in Laos today proposed a co-ordinated program for the economic and social development of the southeast Asian Kingdom.

The proposal was made by Sakari Tuomioja, who was sent to Laos after the Laotians had complained about the threat of Communist invasion from neighboring North Viet Nam.

The Western powers sought to have Hammarskjold station a "presence" in Laos, much as he did in Jordan when that country complained last year of a threat from the United Arab Republic.

The Russians opposed such a course.

Tuomioja's report calls for:

Surveys of natural and human resources and development of basic information with priority on mineral prospecting, soil surveys, manpower studies and the development of statistical services.

Agricultural development with emphasis on increasing production, diversifying crops and marketing.

Basic education and vocational and technical training.

Organization of a comprehensive public health system.

Community development, with particular attention to ethnic minority groups and the population of mountainous regions.

Establishment of a countryside system of transport and communications, especially inland waterways, secondary and feeder roads, cheap transport facilities and economical construction methods.

DE GAULLE PRESSED FOR JOINT AIR DEFENCE

NATO Leaves It Up to Ike

PARIS (CP)—The Western Allies have authorized first steps toward an integrated system to warn of an air attack on Western Europe but have left for Presidents Eisenhower and de Gaulle the major question of whether NATO could order French planes into action against the attack.

This is the chief result of the annual policy review by foreign defence and finance ministers of the 15 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The three-day meeting ended here Thursday with France agreeing to a formula for establishing the warning system but still refusing to put any of its air force under NATO'S unified military command.

The United States wants forces of all NATO powers unified under the alliance's central command to defend Western Europe. In the face of de Gaulle's opposition, the Americans urged that at least an integrated air defence be started.

The NATO ministers left it up to Eisenhower—as well as British Prime Minister MacMillan and Chancellor Adenauer—to see if they could make some beginning with the French president during the Western summit conference this weekend.

American sources said it seemed extremely unlikely that any solution to be the basic dispute would be forthcoming, but Canada's External Affairs Minister Howard Green took a more optimistic view. He told reporters that NATO worries — particularly among the small powers in connection with consultation—were "met".

"The whole attitude," he added, is to have "the fullest possible consultations."

The Canadian minister insisted that the meetings had given him the impression that there is "great confidence in the alliance."

One accomplishment was approval by the NATO council of a Canadian proposal that the alliance's military brains should be mobilized to study disarmament. This was one of Green's major subjects of discussion during the meeting, and it is expected to result in formation of a NATO group that will draft specific suggestions for the 10-member United Nations disarmament committee that meets in Geneva next February.

The NATO ministers did not mention military integration in their final communiqué, which promised to "make a determined effort . . . to guarantee the necessary strength of the alliance."

The ministers added that current NATO defence plans "remain valid." The alliance's master military plan, approved two years ago, calls for unification of all air, ground and naval forces allocated European NATO countries, but due to de Gaulle's opposition this was not even touched on by the ministers.

1,392 Votes Cast; 3,697 Were Eligible

By JOHN MIKA

About 37 per cent of Esquimalt's 3,697 eligible voters turned out Thursday to re-elect three veteran councillors to civic office.

Returned for two-year terms were Councillors Arthur Fields, G. K. Sammon and Walter Holder.

Leading the field handily was Coun. Fields with 930 votes. Behind him came Coun. Sammon with 867.

Only race of the evening was between Coun. Holder, who wound up with 739 votes and newcomer Peter Francis, a past president of Esquimalt Legion, who trailed him closely until the final count gave him 669.

At the bottom was Mrs. F. A. Browne, who polled 502 votes in her third attempt to win a seat.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele, returned earlier by acclamation, said he was disappointed with the turnout, only 6 per cent higher than last year. Of a total 3,697 eligible voters in the municipality, only 1,392 cast ballots.

The reeve spent most of the day driving scores of persons to the polls in his own car.

"I'm glad to have the team back, they are loyal and good councillors but that's not taking anything away from the other candidates," he said.

'TIS BETTER TO GIVE —OR GIVE BACK

Apparently it got through to somebody Thursday night that Christmas is the season for giving things away, ot taking them.

Especially when the latter is a crime.

Wednesday, three miniature reindeer, a small sleigh and a Santa Claus of lawn size were taken from the front of 1705 Kingsbury.

They had only been up a day.

Thursday night, after an item appeared in the Times reporting the theft, Ron Sutherland of the above address received an anonymous telephone call.

"Pick up your decorations on Richmond," a voice said.

Sure enough, near the curb on Richmond about five blocks away were the items, neatly piled, nothing missing or damaged.

However, elsewhere in the city people haven't been so lucky.

A Christmas tree "bulb snatcher" stole 20 lights from an ornamental lamp post in front of the home of W. E. Kenny, 2781 Heron, between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m. Thursday.

And at the same time about 18 large outdoor light bulbs were taken from the front of an apartment house at 2455 Beach Drive.

IF GOVERNMENT OFFER REFUSED

Douk Lands May Be Sold

About 18,000 acres of lands now occupied by B.C. Doukhobor families in the Kootenays may be sold by public tender unless the sect members take up a government offer to buy the properties at 40 per cent less than assessed value.

This was recommended to the provincial government in a fifth interim report on Doukhobor lands by Mr. Justice A. E. Lord. Attorney-General Robert Bonner indicated the Doukhobors will be given until Dec. 31 to purchase the lands, then a public sale will be announced at market prices. The special rate has been available to the Doukhobors since 1957.

AILING MAN BARRICADED IN APARTMENT

MONTREAL (CP)—An ailing 77-year-old man, stubbornly refusing to obey a city eviction order, has been barricaded in his tiny, two-room apartment since last Friday.

"I live like a dog—for two weeks I have no water," Constantin Spodinuk told a reporter Thursday.

But he refuses to leave the $27-a-month apartment where he has lived for the last 18 years until he can find accommodation just as cheap.

. . . Christ always there

'IMPORTANT TO ADULTS'

Christmas Not Just For Children—Dean

Dean Brian Whitlow of Christ Church Cathedral objects to over-emphasis of Christmas as a children's festival.

"Of course Christmas is for children, but it is just as important to adults," he told the Christmas luncheon of Victoria Rotary Club at the Empress Hotel, in which Rotary Anns and other guests took part.

The dean said over-emphasis on bunny rabbits around the crib and baby angels and all the other sweet symbols could make Christmas seem to be for children only.

But because of what happened on the first Christmas —more important than anything else—Christmas was for everyone.

As for putting Christ back into Christmas,, Dean Whitlow said: "I am not aware that He has ever left it. What we need to do is to give ourselves back to Christ at Christmas."

OIL, GAS RIGHTS BIDDING SPIRITED

B.C. Takes in $3.9 Million

Seventeen major oil companies did their Christmas shopping a week early Thursday.

They poured $3,917,141.02 into the provincial treasury for exploration, drilling and lease rights to 326,035 acres of potentially rich oil and natural gas land in northern B.C.

The total sale wasn't a record. But the $528,704 bid of Dome Petroleum was the largest single accepted tender of any auction sale since 1951. The company's bid amounted to $811 per acre (for 652 acres in the red-hot Boundary Lake area)—the highest yet on record for sales in B.C.

Second highest bid was made by the Ohio Oil Co.—$461,888 for 652 acres, also in the Boundark Lake area.

Newcomer to the B.C. sales, Amerada Petroleum Corp., one of the largest independents in the U.S., with extensive holdings in Texas, successfully tendered more than $1,000,000.

Amerada bid $295,375, $436,589 and $366,482 for three parcels of 652 acres each, all in the Boundary Lake area.

Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan said bids were accepted on 25 of the 40 parcels offered. In some cases there were no bids on certain parcels. In others the department rejected the bids.

The minister said the Crown entered some lands for auction to see what interest there would be among oil companies. In other cases, he said, the bids did not come up to the department's assessment on the acreage.

The minister expressed satisfaction with the sale despite the fact that the total realized fell short of the last sale in July when companies spent $4,725,055 for the rights on 426,895 acres of mostly wildcat land in northern B.C.'s petroleum hot spot.

Mr. Kiernan said the bid of West Canadian Oil & Gas Co. of $253,000 for 96,368 acres in the northwest Peace River district indicated a "high level of interest" in the more remote corners of that district.

He also attributed the recent announcement of a $9,500,000 pipeline to move northern B.C. crude oil to the Greater Vancouver market as one of the key factors which stimulated interest in the sale.

Thursday's sale was the third held in B.C. this year. Next year the department plans quarterly sales. The first will be held March 17.

TRAVEL

The flying carpet of olden fables has become a modern symbol of swift smooth travel. Which—by contrast—serves to remind one of slow unhurried processes that make Grant's Stand Fast so good.

Although its tall triangular bottle contains one of the choicest and smoothest of all present-day Scotches, Grant's still is made by the traditional methods that have made it popular wherever you choose to travel.

$56 Million Loan Proposed for Work On Suez Waterway

WASHINGTON (AP)—The World Bank is expected to approve a loan of $56,300,000 next week for the widening and deepening of the Suez Canal.

Bank officials said the board of governors will meet Monday to consider the loan. They refused to predict the outcome but informed circles said the board probably will approve the loan unanimously.

Approval was recommended by a group of bank experts who examined the project last May.

½ AWAKE NIGHTS ½ ASLEEP DAYS

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn in bed—and then are dull and listless throughout the day. All of which may be due to a temporary toxic condition which calls for the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they slow down and impurities stay in the system, disturbed rest, tired feeling and backache often follow. If you don't rest well at night—if you haven't that sprightly step of health in the daytime—use Dodd's Kidney Pills. You can depend on Dodd's! 62

JAYCEES SEEK FUNDS FOR STUDENT FIRMS

Victoria business firms are to be canvassed early in the New Year for the initial capital required to set up from six to eight small companies which will be managed by high school students.

Each of the companies will consist of some 25 Grade 10 and 11 students manufacturing and selling their own choice of product.

They will be launched into business next September by the youth development committee of Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"A total of $8,000 will be needed to get the companies operating," a Jaycee official said, "and about $4,000 a year will be needed thereafter to keep the program going."

Home Loans Hike Strikes No Fear To City Builders

By HAL MALONE, Times Business Editor

The fear among house builders in Vancouver that an increase in the National Housing Association interest rate will curtail building activity next year isn't shared to any significant extent in Victoria.

Malone

Even before federal public works minister David Walker announced a hike in the rate from 6 to 6¾ per cent, Vancouver house builders were wearing black arm bands in anticipation of depressed building activity next year.

Worse still they claim is the likelihood that a higher interest rate will only increase building costs.

Mr. Walker said in Ottawa he had to boost the interest rate because he was satisfied lenders would not lend at the 6 per cent figure.

An industry spokesman in Vancouver said: "Most people assume that raising the rate will attract more mortgage money. But we are not sure this will happen."

Here's the reaction of Donald E. Smith, president of the Victoria Building Industries Exchange: "We are somewhat concerned that a rate increase could curtail building but we are not sure that it will.

RAISE MORE MONEY

"I think it will raise more mortgage money. I say this because if Oak Bay and the Greater Victoria Water Board have to pay 6½ per cent on bonds as they did the other day how is the little fellow going to get money at 6 per cent?

"I don't really think the higher interest rate will seriously deter the average man from building. After all he is primarily concerned with his monthly mortgage payment. The total cost is something far off which he rarely computes and seldom worries about.

"Our industry is concerned with high money rates generally but I don't think the hike in the NHA rate will drastically curtail building in Greater Victoria."

The inclination is to agree with Mr. Smith, and to disagree with the Vancouver spokesman who claimed a boost in the NHA rate would eliminate some prespective buyers whose income would not meet Central Mortgage and Housing Association income requirements for NHA loans.

WON'T BE HAPPY

Under the new rate a homeowner would pay $82.21 per month instead of $76.78 on a $12,000 mortgage. He won't be happy about it but the belief is that he won't decide not to build if he really wants to even though it's going to cost him $5.53 more each month.

What the six and three-quarters will mean over the life of the mortgage is another matter. But as Mr. Smith says the average home-owner doesn't usually work himself into a mild sweat about the end price.

Of interest to the unhappy Vancouver builders and those in Victoria who may feel that Mr. Walker is cutting their bread and butter is the prognostication of a leading American builder, David O. D. Kennedy.

His blueprint for 1960 calls for a small rise numerically in housing starts and bigger increase in dollar value of housing.

THREE FACTORS

Kennedy bases his optimistic forecasts on three factors:

—Demand for new housing will be increased by general prosperity.

—Quality housing will gain a greater share of the market.

—The spectacular rise in population will create new housing needs.

* * *

FACT-A-DAY . . . Auto owners who claim car insurance is too steep here ought to count their blessings . . . Insurance man Justin Harbord says Vancouver drivers pay twice as much as we do, Seattle motorists pay two and half times more and Edmonton owners cough up nearly three times more. It's nice to live and drive in Victoria . . . tra-la.

$30 MILLION CONTRACTS FOR B.C. ORE

Japan Aids Development

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia ore has found a market in Japan.

Current export contracts iron ore mining interests will gross about $30,000,000 and are running about $7,000,000 annually, a survey of iron ore mining interests shows.

Development of new properties, combined with research in Japan on the British Columbia ores, may double or triple this figure during the next several years.

Without the Japanese market, some mining authorities say, there would be no present development.

British Columbia ore is largely low-grade and would not be acceptable to domestic or United States mills—even if any were within economic range.

The Japanese steel industry, however, buys ore around the world and has developed methods of blending to make a useful mill feed.

The Japanese, too, are conducting research on methods of beneficiating or up-grading the British Columbia ore and when a process is developed this will be done in British Columbia before shipment.

ONE-SIDED VICTORY FOR MURDOCH

Oak Bay Re-Elects Reeve Along With 3 Councillors

By TONY DICKASON

An overwhelming vote of confidence Thursday returned Reeve George Murdoch in Oak Bay's municipal elections.

Voters also elected three incumbents and a newcomer to council.

Reeve Murdoch beat his rival, former councillor Geoffrey Ellis for a two-year term 2,892 votes to 761.

He was unofficially elected reeve at a count of ballots taken at 9.30 p.m.

Allan L. Cox topped the poll for council with 2,836 votes. He has served one year and will now serve a two-year term.

Gordon Elworthy, who has also served the municipality a year, drew 2,503 votes for his two-year term.

NEW FACE

Newcomer to council for a two-year term is Percy Noel, who beat former councillor James Maltby 2,277 votes to 2,029.

In a by-election to fill the seat left vacant by Mr. Ellis, veteran councillor Fred Hawes defeated Roger Peachey 1,943 votes to 1,633.

There were 3,684 votes cast out of a total possible 7,899, or 46.63 per cent compared with last year's vote of 43.1 per cent. Record for the municipality was 49.86 per cent in 1948.

Heaviest voting hour at the municipality's one poll was from 7 to 8 p.m. when 655 ratepayers streamed through.

RUN AGAIN

Conceding defeat, Mr. Ellis said: "I'm happy to see George Murdoch get such a big majority. It is an indication people are not in favor of paying the reeve and council. I wish him all success for the next two years. I'm looking forward to a year's rest but hope to run for council again next year."

Pay for reeve and council was one of the issues in the election.

The re-elected reeve said he was "disappointed" that Mr. Ellis didn't receive a larger majority of the votes.

"GREAT HONOR"

"But it is naturally satisfying to be elected by such a large majority, getting such a resounding vote of confidence after finishing a term. It is a great honor for a man in public life to have."

Mr. Noel termed his election "an honor, even to break into such experienced company."

Mr. Cox introduced the fluoridation referendum defeated Thursday night, while Mr. Elworthy had presented the bylaw asking pay for reeve and councillors, to be considered by the new council.

Drivers Lacked Proper Licences; Employers Fined

Four Victoria employers were fined a total $50 when they pleaded guilty in city police court Thursday to charges of hiring unlicenced chauffeurs.

Two charges were read to Arthur John Gregg, of Gregg's Reliable Window Cleaners, 864 Swan, on charges relating to two different employees driving different vehicles on the same day. Magistrate William Ostler set fines of $10 each.

Also fined $10, each were Denford Electric, 664 Discovery; Edwards Welding Ltd., 737 Broughton, and Wilfred Harry Hughes, of Hughes Window Cleaning, 3356 Wordsworth.

3 Die in 'Tunnel of Horror' As Cigaret Fires Gas Blast

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Deadly gas spread through an underground water line Thursday night, turning it into a tunnel of silent and explosive horror.

Three men working on the pipeline project were killed by fumes. Two were critically burned by gas explosions. Another was overcome by fumes but is expected to recover.

The blasts sent 15-foot columns of fire soaring out of open manholes spaced along a two-mile construction area.

Joe E. Snow, 35, and Allen R. Holmes, 39, were working in an open hanhole. Holmes told police he lit a cigaret. A tremendous explosion followed. Holmes and Snow were engulfed in flames.

Crazed with pain, Holmes leaped out of the manhole, his arms and chest charred by the flames. He doused the flames in a puddle, then jumped back into the hole and rescued Snow. They were taken to a hospital in critical condition.

About three blocks away, firemen found three bodies in another part of the tunnel. All were dead of asphyxiation.

The men were employed by the Macco Construction Corporation. A company spokesman said deadly methane gas had formed in the excavation from the decomposition of organic material—the way deadly gases sometimes form through a mine shaft.

TEACHER ELECTED ON SIXTH TRY

Murphy, Passmore Tops In Light Saanich Voting

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Two incumbent councillors, one a staunch supporter of community planning and park development, topped the polls in the Saanich council elections Thursday.

Councillor Stanley Murphy, a Victoria high school teacher, who believes Saanich should budget ahead for future major capital expenditures, such as roads, fire halls and drainage, was returned to office with 3,224 votes.

Coun. Leslie Passmore, who has served on council for more than 15 years, and is a former reeve, was runner-up with 2,918 votes.

SIXTH TRY

The third council seat was won by Gregory Cook, 41-year-old Belmont manual art teacher.

He received 2,179 votes, winning a comfortable majority over his nearest rivals—Robert J. Fleming, a former councillor, and Bernard Clarke, a B.C. Electric maintenance supervisor, who both polled 1,778 votes.

It was Mr. Cook's sixth bid for office. He will take the seat held by Coun. Joseph Casey, who did not seek re-election this year.

Candidate Ian H. Campbell, a member of the Elk Lake Ratepayers' Association, received 1,718 votes, while A. W. Reid, retired publisher, had 1,657 votes.

WOODSWORTH WINNER

The four-way contest for a single Saanich seat on District 63 School Board was won by David E. Woodsworth, executive director of the Family and Children's Service for Greater Victoria.

He defeated Mrs. J. M. Thomas by 67 votes.

The two other school board candidates, Fred S. Berg, Veterans' Land Act construction supervisor, and L. H. Schmelz of Cordova Bay, received 259 and 162 votes respectively.

24 PER CENT VOTE

It was one of the lightest votes in years. Only 24 per cent of the electorate turned out.

The total vote was 5,435 out of a possible 23,059 votes.

Voting was the heaviest in the Lansdowne, Lake Hill and St. George's polls, where Coun. Murphy picked up a healthy lead over his rivals.

"I think the fact that elections were held so near Christmas contributed towards the light vote," Reeve George Chatterton said. "But despite this it shows a lack of interest in municipal business."

FOOD POISONING HITS 40 AT CHRISTMAS PARTY

'Started to Drop Like Flies'

TORONTO (CP) — Doctors today were treating more than 40 persons stricken with food poisoning Thursday at a Christmas party of the beaches senior citizens club in Toronto's east end.

None of the patients is believed in danger. However, health department inspectors said any violent illness of elderly patients could be serious.

Samples from the dinner menu, which included a turkey dinner, have been sent to health department laboratories for analysis.

"They started to drop like flies," said Mrs. Lenora Pocock, a St. John Ambulance nurse who gave first aid to most of the victims.

Mrs. Pocock, who attends all the club's meetings in an official capacity, was asked to the party as a guest.

Many of the members left the party before the poison began to take effect. A police detective and a six-woman committee phoned all 168 club members and advised them to see a doctor.

Officers found many were too weak to answer the phone or come to the door. They were bundled into cruisers and taken to hospital.

Informed by doctors that food poisoning can strike as late as eight hours after eating, police checked each member three times.

Park Fund Approved By Saanich

Saanich ratepayers Thursday gave council the "green light" on plans for accelerating park development in the municipality.

In a referendum, they voted 3,289 to 2,111 in favor of council setting aside annually half a mill (about $30,000) from general revenue for the purchase of land for future park development.

Reeve George Chatterton, who initiated the referendum, was not surprised with the results.

"I knew the people of Saanich are interested in parks and recreation," he said.

He said the parks fund would not be used to purchase playlots, but large tracts of land for regional parks.

"We already have a good idea of what land should be acquired for parks before it is subdivided," he said. "We will buy the property when it becomes necessary."

Old Crime Revived

VIENNA (Reuters)—A Hungarian court recently sentenced a man to death for a crime committed in 1919, according to reports from Budapest reaching here Wednesday. The reports said the sentence was commuted to 15 years. Bela Ankner, manager of a state-controlled shop in Budapest, was charged with having been a member of a gunboat crew on the River Danube which fired on the revolutionary headquarters of Bela Kun, Communist dictator of Hungary in 1919.

2 Priests Beheaded

ROME (Reuters) — Two Roman Catholic priests were beheaded when their missionary station at Bafanga, in the French Cameroons, was attacked last month by hundreds of outlaws, the Fides News Agency reported Tuesday.

Canyens Pop the Cork And Leafs Get Swamped

Brawl Erupts As Montreal Snaps Streak

By The Canadian Press

Montreal Canadiens' scoring power must have been bottled up too long. The cork popped out Thursday night and Toronto Maple Leafs got swamped.

Canadiens trounced Leafs 8-2 and ended a six-game winless streak. In that streak, which began Dec. 2 with a 1-0 loss to Leafs, Canadiens scored only 16 goals.

Leafs went down fighting—literally. The game erupted in a brawl late in the second period which resulted in all 10 forwards and defencemen on the ice being penalized.

Referee Eddie Powers gave majors to Montreal centre Jean Beliveau and Toronto defenceman Tim Horton for fighting and minors to the others for roughing.

68 PENALTY MINUTES

The game was marred by 24 penalties, including four majors and a misconduct.

The win preserved Canadiens' six-point first-place margin over the onrushing Detroit Red Wings.

Red Wings came from behind to defeat Chicago Black Hawks 3-2 in the only other National Hockey League game and extend their unbeaten record to six games. It was Wings' fourth consecutive victory.

Leafs' loss, their fifth straight, dropped them five points behind Detroit. They played without injured forwards Bert Olmstead and Dick Duff.

Canadiens, bolstered by the return of defenceman Tom Johnson and Marcel Bonin, bombarded Toronto goalie Johnny Bower with 53 shots.

EIGHT HAB SCORERS

Beliveau, Bonin, Billy Hicke, Claude Provost, Doug Harvey, Henri Richard, Albert Langlois and Ralph Backstrom scored for Montreal. John Wilson and George Armstrong scored for Leafs.

The free-for-all developed a few seconds after Armstrong's goal, with Montreal ahead 4-2. After Powers cleared the ice with two majors and eight minors, some confusion arose as to the order in which the penalties were to be served. A team cannot be more than two men short at any time.

The officials went into a game-delaying huddle soon after the third period started, during which league president Clarence Campbell came to the timer's bench, and finally decided that the majors took precedence.

'WE WANT STOREY'

The crowd became impatient and began chanting "we want Storey."

Referee Red Storey resigned during the playoffs last spring, saying he had been criticized publicly by Campbell.

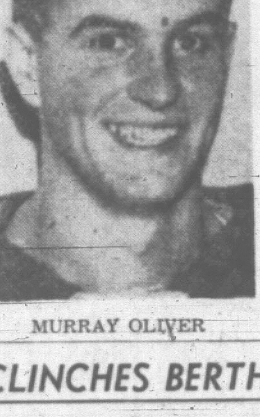
In Detroit, rookie centre Murray Oliver looked as though he may make the rookie-award selectors' work easy this year. He scored the tying and winning goals in the third period as Red Wings overcame Chicago's 2-0 lead, boosting his total to seven in the 14 games he has played.

Black Hawks took the lead on Bobby Hull's first-period goal and Eric Nesterenko's early in the second. Red Wings started to roll when Gary Aldcorn scored just before the end of the second period.

Next league games are scheduled Saturday night, when New York is at Montreal and Detroit at Toronto.

OLIVER'S ARM INJURY . . . . . . BIG BREAK FOR WINGS

Just Good, That's All



MURRAY OLIVER

DETROIT (AP)—Murray Oliver was good enough as an infielder to get a baseball contract from the Cleveland Indians' organization and good enough in hockey to make the Detroit Red Wings' club after only one year in the minor leagues.

Baseball's loss was Detroit's gain as far as the 22-year-old forward is concerned. Oliver never quite got over a broken arm suffered while playing in the Cleveland farm system, so gave up the game in favor of hockey.

When he clicked for a pair of goals in Thursday night's 3-2 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks, it marked the second time the youngster has come through with a two-goal performance.

He is only 14 games out of the Western Hockey League but already has scored seven goals. He got the tying goal and the winning goal Thursday night, enabling the Wings to run their unbeaten string to six.

Oliver turned pro a year ago and in his first full season scored 67 points for the WHL's Edmonton Flyers, Detroit's top farm club.

"He played well in camp," said coach Sid Abel, "but we just didn't feel he was quite ready. Back at Edmonton he was terrific. He was a crowd-pleaser and was scoring well, and we hated to take him away from that club. But the Red Wings needed a lift and we thought maybe Oliver could provide it. We're not sorry now."

Oliver, described by Abel as a smart hockey player who diagnoses situations and anticipates his teammates' moves, is fast becoming a favorite with Red Wing fans.

Abel talked about Oliver's "hockey sense" and his knack for being in the right place at the right time. Veteran Gordie Howe didn't elaborate that much.

"He's just a good hockey player, that's all," said Howe.

CLINCHES BERTH

Taylor Stretches Streak to Seven

Racking up his seventh successive victory, Gar Taylor continued his unbeaten march and clinched a spot in the Vancouver Island Consols semi-finals Thursday night at Victoria Curling Club.

Taylor's crew nailed down one of the four berths at stake in the Victoria elimination series by downing the Gerry Walls rink 14-8.

It is now mathematically impossible for the Taylor quartet to finish lower than fourth in the 10-rink round-robin series.

Jim Dickson's crew remained in contention with an 11-8 decision over flagging Tony Gutoski and his rink.

Former B.C. champion, Gutoski now boasts a 4-2 won-lost record and is tied for fourth place with Dickson.

SECOND PLACE

Steve Hayhurst's rink stayed tied for second with Larry Marshall's group with a 7-5 victory over Wes Young's foursome.

The Craig-Moore game was defaulted to Gordie Moore's rink to give them a 3-3 record.

Behind 8-4 after the tenth end, Gutoski came up with a four-ender in the 11th to tie the game but was downed when skip Dickson took out his partly-guarded shot rock with his last stone to count three in the 12th.

Play resumes Saturday night at 6.15 when Bob McIntosh plays Moore, Marshall meets Gutoski, Dickson plays Young, Taylor faces Hayhurst and Craig meets Walls.

Granny to Coach

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Granny Hamner, a Richmond native who spent all or part of 14 seasons in the major league, Thursday night was named coach of Richmond Virginians of the International League for 1960.

Sox Sign Pilots

BOSTON (AP) — General manager Bucky Harris of Boston Red Sox announced today the signing of two new coaches—Billy Herman, who will coach on the third base line, and Sal Maglie, who will handle the pitchers.

SIGNED BY ARGOS

Argonauts, of the Big Four have signed tackle Nick Mumley and halfback Hal Waggoner for the 1960 football season.

TIME OUT! By JEFF KEATE

"I know! I know! It takes patience to catch the big ones!"

Opening Boot Battle Rates in 'Final' Class

One of the most attractive matches of the Jackson Cup soccer series is the one which will launch the annual knockout competition.

In fact, the luck of the draw for the Victoria and District Football League series has presented fans with an opening match at Royal Athletic Park Saturday that rates in the "final" category. It will be between Ladysmith and Evcoes.

Sharing the league lead as the clubs take a rest from league matches over the holiday season, the two squads have tangled only once this season. On that occasion, Ladysmith edged the Victoria side in a 2-1 thriller.

Biggest boot man for Evcoes Saturday could be George Paul, who had a hot scoring touch and tallied five goals against Navy last weekend. Figuring to give Paul a lot of help are ex-Coast League forwards Ced Robb and George Wright and centre-half Bob Mars, who has been a standout performer all season.

CARMICHAEL BACK

Opposing them will be the sharp eyes and sure hands of Ladysmith goalie Dick Carmichael, back in action after a two-game suspension.

Carmichael's absense was responsible in large measure for the 5-0 shellacking Ladysmith took from a fired-up Scottish side last Sunday.

League officials said today that if poor weather makes the Royal Athletic Park field unplayable, the game will be switched to Beacon Hill Park.

Game time is 2 p.m.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—In Boston, Red Priest beat Charlie Fusari by turning it on in furious rallies during the last minute of every round. The pug was advised to begin his brief flurries by his seconds, who pounded on the ring apron. But Vic Marsilo, who managed Fusari, couldn't tell his fighter how much time was left. Fusari was deaf.

It was different in the second fight. The manager planted a dozen guys with whistles in the first couple of rows. He signalled when there were 60 seconds left, and they blew Fusari a warning that sounded like a convention of deranged mail carriers. The whistling could be heard by Fusari, who paced himself for the final minute, and he won the decision.

Marsilo also handled Jersey Joe Walcott during his early career. Before Walcott's fight with Jimmy Bevins, the guy who would become the heavyweight champion complained to Marsilo that he couldn't sleep.

* * *

"I was worried," said Marsilo. "But I planted my brother in a phone booth in the lobby of the hotel in Cleveland where the fight was and told him to wait for my call. I called the number in front of Joe and made out I was talking to a doctor. I told him I had to have some sleep-pills. I let on like the doctor was sending them to me, and hung up. I told my brother to buy some aspirins, take them out of the box they come in and wrap them in tissue paper."

* * *

The manager handed the fighter an aspirin. It was a brand unidentified by the manufacturer's trade mark.

"Don't let on I give you these," said Marsilo. "I could go to the can for what I'm doing."

The next day the fighter, refreshed after 10 hours' sleep, asked for another one.

Said Walcott: "I couldn't sleep without them."

One at a time, for four days, Walcott took the aspirin and slept soundly. He beat Bevins.

Touts are advertising ways to beat the point spread in college baseball games. Betting has come back after diminishing because of the dumping scandals. I wonder what the universities are doing to guard their players against the temptations of fixers.

The last time they ignored the signs and ridiculed the suspicions of sports writers. As long as there is gambling on a sport, there will be fixers, guys trying to put games in the satchels. I hope the university people understand this. They left it drift once, and some of their kids went to jail.

Boozy Stampedes Could Be Dangerous

The multitudes attending professional football games have drifted into a harmful bumhood. At Yankee Stadium, they tried to slug players on the Cleveland Browns. Their bellowings drowned out the Giants' signals during the game with the Redskins at Washington. They refused to shut up when Don Heinrich asked them for silence with flapping arms.

Their boldness was encouraged by the New York police's cowardice. The cops didn't arrest one of them after the New York riot. Until they can control themselves, I don't think beer should be sold in any professional football park and all whisky bottles should be confiscated by a special security force. Unless the franchise holders do something drastic, the drunken thugs who go to their games are liable to murder some people in their boozy stampedes.

* * *

The reputation of baseball was damaged when the Yankees negotiated another deal with their American League farm club, the Kansas City Athletics. There is nothing dishonorable about any of their numerous transactions. But it appears the Yankees can get from Kansas City any player they need, as soon as they want him. The protests by Bill Veeck and Frank Lane must have flattened Lonesome George Weiss, the Yankee general manager, because it is a tribute to his persuasive faculties.

The people the Yankees gave up were either physically unsound, over-age or unproven big leaguers. Roger Maris will help them. But this deal alone will not get them the pennant.

They are far from another championship and Lonesome George will have to dig up more marks to trade with if he intends to improve his mediocre team. As they stand now, the Yanks are still a third-place team.

FIRST IN WHL

His Shoulder Hurts So Cat Dons Mask

SPOKANE (AP)—Spokane goalie Emile "The Cat" Francis will be back in the lineup with a new look when Spokane Comets meet Seattle Totems in Western Hockey League action here Saturday night.

Francis, who suffered a shoulder injury in Comets last game against Seattle and missed two games, will be outfitted with a special plastic face mask, the first use made of protective face gear in the circuit.

Francis will have his healing shoulder in a harness and the mask was added in the event he might not be able to get his hands up in front of his face in time should a loose puck come sailing head-high.

The mask was originally purchased by the club to use in practice, but Francis and general manager Roy McBride said they don't want to take any chances that Francis will be sidelined again.

Ted's 100 Gs Just $60,000

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ted Williams told a Miami judge Thursday he received $60,000 last season from Boston Red Sox, not $100,000 as publicized. He said his income from all sources was $83,000.

The 41-year-old outfielder said also that he hadn't received a 1960 contract and doubted whether he could play because of injuries and age.

The Herald quoted Red Sox general manager Stanley (Bucky) Harris as saying in Boston that Williams will receive a contract for next season and the club hopes he can play.

Williams appeared before Circuit Court Judge George Holt to oppose a petition of Mrs. Doris Ruby Tridico, his former wife, for increasing from $100 to $250 a month a maintenance allowance Williams provides for a daughter's support.

Williams said he was willing to pay his daughter's actual bills but contended they did not total more than the present allowance.

In 1955, when Williams was divorced, Judge Holt granted Mrs. Williams the couple's $80,000 south Miami home, an automobile and $50,000 cash. Williams at that time said his income was $110,000 a year.

Holt took the current petition under advisement.

McArthur Again

Jim McArthur was re-elected by acclamation to his fifth term as president of the Victoria Lawn Tennis and Badminton Club Wednesday at the club's annual meeting.

Jack Parker was re-elected vice-president and financial adviser is Jim Wells.

Junior Development Main Shuttle Target

The Vancouver Island Badminton Association's new executive is going to go all out in an attempt to boost the sport on the Island, especially at the junior level.

Association directors, headed by president Ed Hedley, vice-president Dave Laing and secretary-treasurer Mrs. Phil Salmon, announced that a new tournament will be their first attempt "to breathe new life into the sport".

The tournament will be open to all junior members on the Island and will be known as the Vancouver Island junior badminton championships.

Tentative date for the tournament is set for the first week in March.

The association plans to take the accent away from the presentation of symbolic awards and, instead, emphasize "the value of playing in a major tournament".

The association will also offer financial assistance to Island juniors in the British Columbia championships.

Maroons Take Cuts

CHATHAM, Ont. (CP)—Players with Chatham Maroons Thursday night agreed to a salary cut to enable the Ontario Hockey Association club to keep competing in the Senior A Series.

Operations of the club were suspended earlier this week because of lack of funds and dwindling attendance, but the salary cut will reduce the team's weekly payroll by $440.

The Chatham Hockey Association directors voted to pay the club's contribution to the OHA's league pool that covers travelling costs, officials' pay and administration expenses.

The OHA had set a deadline of midnight last Wednesday for the payment. They extended it when the Maroons decided to withdraw from the league.

PICNICS UNDER CHISOX BLEACHERS

Now It's 'Veeckskeller'

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Veeck, of the White Sox, has come up with another new gimmick to lure fans—a picnic area under the leftfield stands — screened off from the playing field at Comiskey Park.

Workmen have started knocking out the nine-foot brick wall which fronts the leftfield stands. This will be replaced by a fine, but durable, wire screen permitting a view of the field from the area under the stands.

This area will become a sort of "Veeckskeller," providing dining facilities for large groups of fans, who also may bring picnic baskets, watching the pre-game practice as they dine.

Designed for a capacity of between 750 and 1,000 people, the picnic space basically is intended for organized groups which usually reach the ball park well in advance of starting time.

However, if space permits, any fan with a picnic basket can visit Bill's barred grill.

Britain Hopes For New Stars

By ED SIMON

LONDON (CP)—The British sports world enters the 1960s hopefully scanning a host of young and anonymous faces for signs of athletic immortality.

Nearly all the first post-war generation of luminaries have faded into retirement. The survivors attract the reminiscent applause of spectators who remember them in their prime. And there is a conspicuous lack of new heroes to take their place.

A revamped England cricket eleven is campaigning in the West Indies without Godfrey Evans to keep wicket after 87 Test match appearances over a 13-year span. Both Evans and Jim Laker, the crafty off-spin bowler who captured all 10 Australian wickets in a single Test innings, retired at the end of the 1959 season.

Billy Wright, captain and centre half of England's great post-war soccer side, has hung up his boots after more than 100 international appearances and his old teammates, Stanley Matthews and Tom Finney, confine their appearances to club matches.

Derek Ibbotson turned in the fastest British mile of 1959 and Gordon Pirie had the best time over two miles. But the veteran pair, both one-time world record holders, were unable to keep up with younger competitors abroad.

South Africa's Gary Player was the eighth consecutive non-resident to capture the British Open golf championship. The Ryder Cup, won by Britain two years ago, returned to the United States, which also retained its amateur equivalent, the Walker Cup. Britons were unable to win a major tennis championship at Wimbledon.

The usual ambitious contingent of British boxers tried and failed to win world titles and the country's oarsmen and scullers were outpaced by visiting rivals at Henley.

Cricket Failure Was Biggest Blow

The saddest blow to national prestige was suffered in Australia, where England's cricketers not only failed to retain the mythical Ashes, which they had held since 1953, but managed only a single draw in the five Test matches.

In contrast to the dismal showing in Australia, county cricket flourished in one of the sunniest summers in years. Surrey, winner of seven straight championships lost the crown to a youthful, hard-hitting Yorkshire side.

The new broom swept with equal vigor through England's international soccer side after a summer tour of South and Central America brought successive defeats at the hands of Brazil, Peru and Mexico. The fall season opened with only three holdovers, fullback Don Howe, wing-half Ronnie Clayton and goalkeeper Eddie Hopkinson, in their accustomed places.

The first experimental moves brought mixed results—an unimpresive draw with Wales, a home defeat at the hands of Sweden and a victory over Northern Ireland.

The Swedish defeat, only the second in history at Wembley Stadium by a visiting side, resulted in the removal of Hopkinson and the return of Johnny Haynes, the scheming Fulham inside forward.

Another minor crisis occurred in rugger when France, the only non-British side, finished on top of the four home countries in the international championships. England, the previous champions, completed the entire season without scoring a single try.

Black Threat for Olympic Honors

English breeders had a more successful season, training the winners of all but one of the country's turf classics. The outstanding performer was Prince Aly Khan's Petite Etoile, winner of the One Thousand Guineas and the Oaks and undefeated throughout the summer.

Another filly, William Hill's Cantelo, which finished second behind Petite Etoile in the Oaks, enhanced her prestige by defeating Parthia, the Epsom Derby winner, in the St. Leger.

One of Britain's few prospects for track-and-field honors in the Olympic Games at Rome next August is 19-year-old Mary Bignal, who won the broad jump and 80-metre hurdles over formidable Russian opponents in an international meeting at Moscow. Sprinter Peter Radford and shot-putter Arthur Rowe were the most impressive performers among the men.

Scotland's versatile Ian Black, whose world record time in the 400-metre medley awaits ratification, is Britain's outstanding challenger for Olympic swimming honors.

UNCHEERFUL EARFUL

Getting anything but cheerful earful is referee Arnold Heft, who has moved in to break up National Basketball Association rhubarb between coach Red Auerbach of Boston Celtics and referee Norm Drucker (right) at Madison Square Garden. (NEA).

Sidewalk Bookies Fight for Survival

LONDON (AP) — Britain's illegal street corner bookmakers were up in arms Thursday, charging that the government is trying to run them out of business.

They announced the formation of the Street Bookmakers' Federation (SBF) to fight a new government-supported betting act being considered in Parliament.

"The big bookmakers will monopolize the betting business if this bill goes through," said Wilfred (Nozzie) Sherman of Cardiff, Wales. Sherman was elected chairman of SBF at a secret meeting of some 200 street bookies from England and Wales.

At present, the only legal off-course wagering in Britain is on credit, with bets placed by telephone or mail. Settlement must be made by mail. The legal bookmaker never sees his client, and vice versa.

The bill before Parliament would legalize betting shops. Customers could walk in and wager on a horse, or some sporting event, with the same ease as buying a can of peas or a bottle of beer in a grocery.

That was what gave the street bookies the idea to organize.

"Big bookmakers have huge resources," said Sherman. "The ordinary street bookies will be outbid for the necessary real estate for betting shops. They will be unable to compete and that will be the end of them."

Street bookies and agents grabbed by police are usually fined £5 to £25 ($14 to $70) and they merely regard it as a sort of licence fee. They are back on the same old corner the next day.

Discipline Committee Continues Crackdown

VANCOUVER (CP) — Four players were suspended and four others reprimanded Thursday as the B.C. Soccer Commission's discipline committee continued its crackdown on rough play and poor behavior.

Suspended indefinitely was Chuck Pass of Dutch Lions in the mainland league, who allegedly threatened referee Reg Clark after being sent from the field in a game against Vancouver Irish Dec. 6.

Others suspended were Neil McEachnie of Hales, one game for abusive language; Bill Hislop of Hales, one game for fighting, and Dom Mara of Mission, one game for fighting.

Bill Neuhaus of Columbus, Dennis Hubbard of Vancouver Irish, Carl Vaga of Coquitlam United and Ben Hackmann of Carlings were reprimanded for fighting.

Indians Stay With Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Rangers of the National Hockey League and Springfield Indians of the American League Thursday extended their working agreement one year to May, 1961.

"I'm very happy with the arrangement," said Eddie Shore, Springfield owner and a former great defenceman with Boston Bruins.

Springfield leads the AHL, while the Rangers are in the NHL cellar.

Four-Step Olga Admits Men Have More Ability

By JACK CUDDY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brown-haired, blue-eyed Olga Gloor of Norwood Park, Ill., is one housewife who doesn't advise saving steps.

In fact, Olga says she's more of a stepper at 39 than she was at 29 and advises other gals to be likewise.

"What's your profession?" a reporter asked hopefully.

"I'm a married woman and a housewife and a professional bowler," she replied proudly.

"That's nice," said the reporter, politely disguising his disappointment. "You earn your own pin money, huh?"

"I do all right. In fact I won the world's invitation match-game title last Friday at Chicago. The women's world individual championship!"

EXUDED TRIUMPH

Five-foot-five Olga said it in the modest, self-effacing tone which might be used by an exultant debutante announcing to other huntresses at a soiree that Philip Pasturepile had finally popped the big question and presented the finger ice. Man! She exuded triumph.

"What are you doing in New York?"

"I'm here to start a national lecturing and instruction tour next month — just getting ready now."

"What's this talk about your being more of a stepper now than you were before?" the writer asked.

"I used to take only three steps and now I take four."

"Is that good?"

Olga explained that four steps are a "must" for a bowler approaching the foul line to deliver the ball down the alley. Only by using the slower four-step approach can either a man or a woman ever hope to become a really big-time player, she said.

"I learned that the hard way," she continued. "I started bowling to kill time, back in 1944. I found it fun and a challenge. I got so I could average around 178, but I couldn't get any higher.

"I finally went to a very good instructor, Paul Krumske. He had me change my style radically. I had to start all over again, with four steps, and with a lighter 14-pound ball instead of my 16-pounder.

Later, after she had improved her style, she returned to the heavier ball and she has been bowling in the high 180's ever since. She said she had an average of "almost 200" during the 32-game finals of the tourney in which she beat out 64 contestants last week.

"You know," she concluded, "in similar classifications of bowling, a man should be about 15 pins better than a woman. I hate to admit it but men have more physical ability — more stamina and muscle than women."

Alberni Bookkeeper Becomes First Woman Mayor for Island

By DON INGHAM
Times Island Editor

Vancouver Island's only mayoralty elections Thursday, both in the Alberni Valley, saw Mayor Loran K. Jordan retain his seat in Port Alberni, and the city of Alberni elect its first woman mayor.

She is Mrs. Mabel S. Anderson, who defeated Mayor Jack Luckhurst 567-533.

Her victory makes her the first woman ever to hold a mayoralty post on Vancouver Island.

MAYOR JORDON
. . . re-elected

Secretary of Alberni Ratepayers' Association and resident there for 30 years, Mrs. Anderson won a governor-general's medal winner for the Lethbridge school district, and became vice-principal of schools at both Red Deer and Lethbridge.

She is a bookkeeper at Anderson's Groceteria in Alberni, a post she has held for 20 years. She has two sons, Kenneth, a North Vancouver teacher, and John, manager of the Alberni business.

Secretary of the Business and Professional Women's Club of the Albernis, she also is vice-president of the Ladies' Curling Club there.

Elected as aldermen at Alberni were Russell Foxcroft, 515; Ald. Charles Blair, 491, and George A. Dunbar, 488.

Defeated were Ald. George McRae, 478; W. T. Neale, 420; L. J. Stickley, 332, and Bernice Jones, 329. A $560,000 sewer bylaw was rejected 724-373.

Mayor Jordon defeated Gustave Frigstad 1,475-571 for election to his seventh consecutive term as Port Alberni's chief magistrate.

Elected to Port Alberni council were Earl Bowen, 1,064; Ald. Douglas Mallory, 1,050, and Ald. Fred Weaver, 860.

Defeated candidates were George Folkard, 788; Ald. Norman Odgers, 704; George McKnight, 667, and Alex Gilfillan, 514.

In North Cowichan new councillors are Reginald Clegg, retired Westholm farmer, 955, and William Bowles, Chemainus merchant, 765. Defeated were Coun. J. S. Dyke, 503, and Vernon L. Stanley-Jones, Duncan machinery dealer, 317.

At Campbell River newcomer Robert Jamieson defeated incumbent J. D. Bundy for chairmanship of the village commission 469-460.

Commissioner Jack Lee was re-elected with 571 votes, but William Hogg, making his first election bid, drew 374 votes to topple Commissioner Barney Box, 321, for the second of two vacant seats on the commission. Other candidates were Mrs. June Bootle, 310, and Harry Eastwood, 195.

Trustee Cyril Hague and Mrs. Ann Jackson were elected to the school board, and Frank Douglas and Trustee J. D. Iaci were defeated. Totals were not available today.

Two bylaws totalling $55,000 for a fire hall extension and new fire truck in the 'Chemainus area were carried 434-117.

Only issue at stake Thursday in Central Saanich, where councillors were elected by acclamation, was an $83,000 waterworks bylaw, which passed 474-256.

The money will be used to build a reservoir in the vicinity of Mount Newton, and individual areas may join the system later as they see fit. Source of water is the Elk Lake-Patricia Bay system.

Nanaimo voters, faced with only a referendum calling on city council to turn city-owned Newcastle Island over to the provincial government for development as a provincial park, passed it handily by a vote of 1,300-197.

There were 6,007 persons eligible to vote on the referendum.

The city bought the island from the CPR in 1955 for $150,000, and it has been used extensively by city groups, but maintenance costs of $6,000 per year have proved a burden.

Access to the 750-acre island is a problem, since a bridge would have to span navigable waters where the federal government has jurisdiction.

Details of elections in other Vancouver Island centres are as follows with (x) designating incumbents:

COMOX

School trustee (one seat)—(x) Gordon Wagner, 71, elected; Veronica Parker, 40.

TRUSTEES WANT INDIANS IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

'We Favor Integration'

Many Aren't Attending Any Classes

DUNCAN—"This board views with favor the integration of Indians into public schools."

This was the wording of a resolution passed by Cowichan School District 65 trustees Thursday.

Trustee Wilf Peck emphasized "the larger problem is the number of Indian children who are not attending any school, parochial or public."

"If they want to come in there isn't room for them and to make room the financing must be changed to provide it," the trustee said.

F. A. Clark, Indian agent at Duncan, said the department's objective was integration of Indians with non-Indians. This could be done only through education, Mr. Clark said.

He pointed out there were about 25 Indian children attending Cowichan public schools throughout the district.

GOV'T GRANT

About 250 attend St. Catharine's Indian Day School, he said. He told the board they should take advantage of the government grant for the pupils attending public school. About 10 Cowichan high school students were having their costs paid by the department, he said.

The board opened negotiation with the Indians, through the agent to lease 1½ acres of Indian land at Westholme for a playground addition to an elementary school on Mt. Sicker Road.

Mr. Clark said the lease would be for 10 years, with an option to lease an additional 10 years.

It is expected the application will come before the board at its Vancouver meeting Jan. 18.

DUNCAN — Indian agent F. A. Clark told Cowichan District 65 school board Thursday it has no way of forcing Indians to sell their land to the school board.

The board wanted to buy 1.75 acres of land at Mount Sicker Road and the Old Island Highway to add to the property of Westholme School, but the council of Westholme Indian Band has rejected the offer

"We have no way of twisting their arm," Mr. Clark said, saying the Indians own their lands and the councils administer them.

The school board decided to seek a lease on the land instead of outright purchase.

PROFIT SHARE BID REJECTED

No Business Partnership Judge Tells Island Pair

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mr. Justice David Verchere decided in B.C. Supreme Court Wednesday that there was no business partnership between Mrs. Jean Gordon, an Alberni cook, and Sanford John McSweeney, a Parksville garage operator.

He dismissed a suit by Mrs. Gordon for a share of four years of profit in an Alberni motel.

Mrs. Gordon claimed an arrangement existed whereby she would run the motel's coffee shop and McSweeney the garage. McSweeney denied any business arrangement.

Street Light Survey at Chemainus

CHEMAINUS—A survey of street lighting needs will be taken in the Chemainus area by Chemainus - Crofton Chamber of Commerce prior to making a complaint to North Cowichan municipal council of what it calls "inadequate" and "very poor" conditions.

Robert Bennie, chamber member, said at a regular meeting this week that several streets in Chemainus do not have sidewalks and are full of potholes, and "should at least be well lit."

He suggested council members be invited to Chemainus some night for a first-hand view of conditions.

A letter will be sent to the Department of Transport urging that action be taken to get rid of three or four old boats rotting on foreshore in the harbor adjacent to the government wharf. The boats, now partly submerged and rotting away, were termed "an eyesore."

Ed Hess asked if similar action could be taken to get rid of two or three old cars that were sitting on private property. One member said the municipality would not allow old wrecks to be hauled to the garbage dump. The matter will be investigated.

Lars Fowler suggested that as part of the winter works program, brush and other heavy growth be cleared from the side of the road at bad corners and busy intersections.

UBC Gets Aid For Special Ocean Study

OTTAWA (CP)—Formation of a federally-established committee on the science of oceans was announced Wednesday to co-ordinate work in Canadian waters and keep contact with international research.

The move reflects two things. One was a blistering report made by a Commons committee earlier this year on the state of government-run research into resources over recent years. It belabored chronic shortages of men and money.

The other is Canada's growing preoccupation with what lies under her wide-flung shore waters on all coasts, including the Arctic where Russian activity is far advanced.

The committee employs 300 scientists, plus supporting staff and an operating fleet of 10 oceanographic and hydrographic vessels. First of the new vessels to appear will be the Hudson, costing $7,000,000 and due for service in 1961.

Grants of $80,000 each have been made to the universities of Dalhousie and British Columbia to assist in starting oceanography institutes. The University of Toronto had received a lesser amount.

The government now is the only employer of working oceanographers in Canada, he said, and hopes to pick off bright graduates as they materialize.

POLICE STILL BAFFLED

Simple Funeral For Ex-Mobster

CHICAGO (UPI) — Roger Touhy, the man who someone feared or hated too much to let live, was buried today with the simplest of rites that were a far cry from the gang funerals of his heydey as a beer baron.

Members of his family arranged to move his body quietly from the funeral parlor where it was taken after shotgun slugs snuffed out his life and critically wounded his bodyguard Wednesday night in a killing that was reminiscent of the roaring 20's and 30's in Chicago gang wars.

While the body was being taken to Mt. Carmel Cemetery, John (Jake the Barber) Factor, the man who sent Touhy to prison and who sued him for libel because of a book written about Touhy's record, took a voluntary lie test.

John Reid, the operator of a private polygraph laboratory, announced after the test, which took an hour, that it had cleared Factor of any involvement in the Touhy slaying.

SHORT PRAYER

A short prayer was said at the graveside by Vincent Schaik, a funeral director. No priest was in attendance. There was no long procession. There had been no wake.

Police said an hour before the lie test they had no interest in Factor's desire to face the polygraph because they cleared him previously of any connection with the Wednesday night gangland-style shooting.

However, a sergeant was sent to observe the test, held in a private laboratory.

Police said they don't have much to work on in trying to solve the ambush, that also wounded Touhy's bodyguard, Walter Miller, 62, a retired police sergeant.

Federal officials said the assault was carried out by the Mafia, the notorious international underworld organization, to seal Touhy's lips forever.

There seems to be no shortage of men who could have ordered the pint-sized prohibition era bootleg boss murdered. The job could have been arranged by hoodlums from Touhy's past, or by representatives of the current crime syndicate.

NEW FRENCH BUDGET APPROVED

PARIS (AP)—The government of Premier Michel Debre won approval of its 1960 budget Thursday.

The vote was 220 to 172 with 100 abstentions. The budget—calculated in new francs worth 100 of today's francs—totalled 64,000,000,000 francs ($13,000,000,000).

The budget, which continues the economic austerity program begun this year by President de Gaulle, generated the biggest opposition vote yet encountered by a government-backed measure.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1959

QUAKERS COLLECT FOR 'LIFE-SAVERS'

Donation of $4 will buy a blanket that can help save an Algerian refugee child from freezing to death as he sleeps in mountain hideouts across the border from his strife-torn land.

Contributions to alleviate desperate conditions of some 250,000 Algerian refugees will be accepted at the 1831 Fern Street meeting house of the Society of Friends (Quakers), Victoria relief secretary I. M. Vallance said today.

Money and warm clothing are sought.

Contributions will be used to help the refugees who have fled to Tunisia and Morocco from the French military pacification of Algeria. More than half are children under 15, living in mountain caves where temperatures frequently drop below freezing during the winter.

The local appeal for donations followed receipt of a letter from Rita Morgan, Quaker relief worker, which said:

"SO PITIFUL"

"I have just come from the frontier, visiting encampments there—while cannons were booming (on the Algerian side).

"The condition of the people is so pitiful that I can find no words to tell you. And I have had experience with the Arab refugees in Gaza and before that with Greek refugees.

"These are in far worse condition. Many will surely die."

MONTE ROBERTS

This space sometimes has the privilege of passing along good news to the constituents, sometimes just passable news, sometimes bad news.

And today this space feels duty bound to pass along THIS news, which you can evaluate as you please:

A firm in Oregon is producing do-it-yourself Christmas tree kits for sale through a mail order house.

These are six-foot trees, with removable fir boughs, designed to be assembled at home.

They come in a kit containing 46 fireproof Douglas fir boughs and a drilled wooden trunk, into which the boughs can be stuck to create a perfectly shaped tree.

I do not know how you will classify this item of news, but in my book it comes under the heading of news I could get along without.

It is not that I object to the do-it-yourself trend. Far to the contrary, I feel the only way to procure a Christmas tree is to do-it-yourself—go out into the woods, preferably on a chilly day (I was going to saw snowy, but what's snow?), get your feet wet and rain down the back of your neck, spend hours going from tree to tree until you've found just the exactly ideal one you want, and then remember you've forgotten to bring the axe.

And it's not that I object to this do-it-yourself tree being delivered from a mail order house, ready for assembly.

It's the thought of a perfectly shaped tree which moves me into the ranks of those who prefer to vote "no."

Start with a perfectly shaped Christmas tree, and where do you end?

You end with a Christmas tree completely lacking a personality. You end with a tree geometrically designed, with the red lights balanced by the blue lights and the green lights and the yellow lights, topped with an erect and dignified white star.

As far as I am concerned, a proper Christmas tree should lean a little off kilter, with far too long boughs in back and far too short boughs in front.

It should look a little ragged around the edges, have a raffish appearance and tend to lean backwards in the corner as it supports itself against the wall with outspread limbs, like the host at 2 a.m.

This perfectly-shaped, Oregon-produced, do-it-yourself Christmas tree has the same appeal for me as a hat rack tastefully decorated with metal coat hangers.

Progress is a fine thing, but let's continue to go out into the woods, choose our own unbalanced tree, and then remember we've forgotten to bring along the axe.

Normal holiday service will be provided for special delivery and the post office lobby will be open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on all three days.

Not only was he in the wrong, he picked the wrong man to be in the wrong with.

Elmer T. Forrest, no fixed address, "touched" a city policeman in plain clothes on Johnson Street Thursday for "help to buy a bottle."

He was charged with begging and vagrancy.

Forrest will be sentenced Saturday.

James Carlin, 1842 Quadra, in city court today, was sentenced to 20 days in jail for impaired driving.

It was his second offence within three-and-one-half years.

He was also fined $25 for not having a current driver's licence.

Offence occurred Thursday about 4.20 p.m. when police spotted him weaving through town for five blocks, two-thirds of a block on the wrong side of the street.

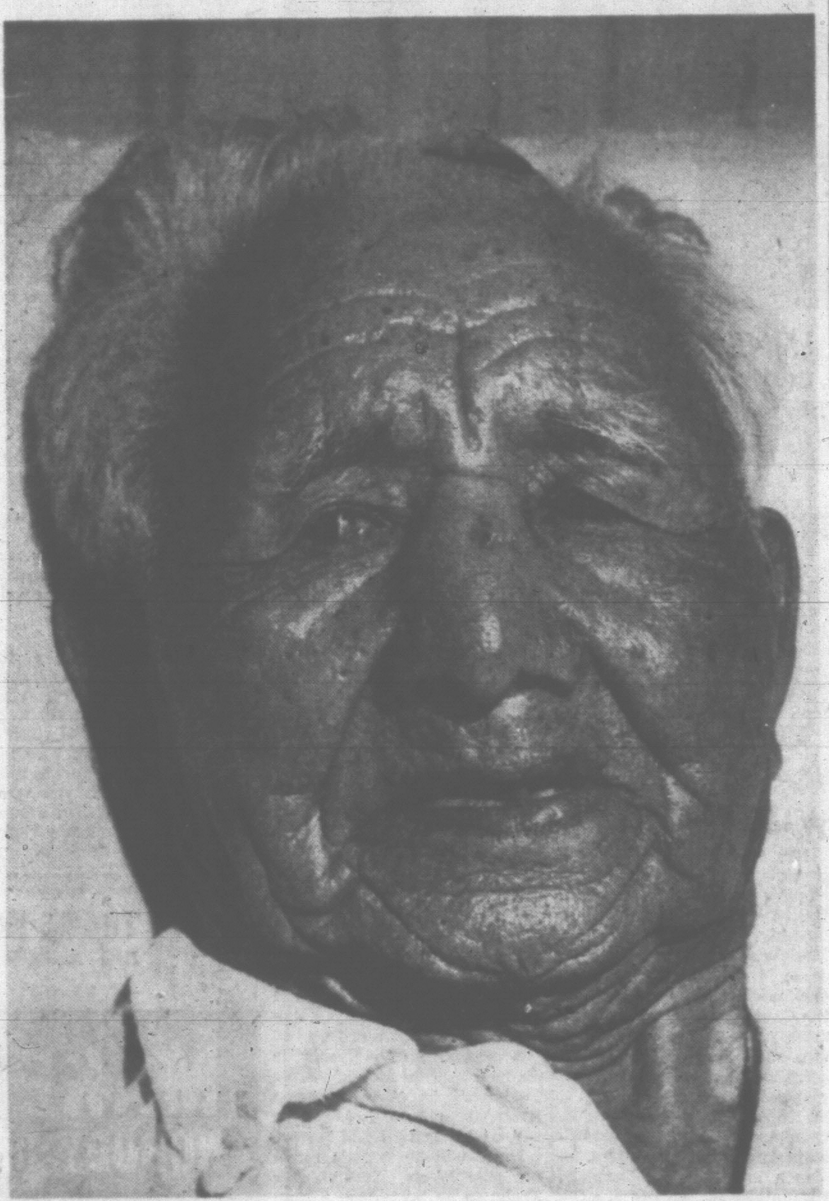
Wallace Buntain Dickieson, 1597 Midgard, previously fined for impaired driving, agreed in Saanich police court Thursday to drive for business purposes only for a period of three months.



SAM TOM . . . recuperating in hospital.

LO, THE HARDY INDIAN . . .

100-Year-Old Shrugs Off Injury

Sam Tom is doing nicely, thank you.

He isn't at all worried, despite his injuries.

After all, when one is a strong man who has led a clean life for 100 years and five months, it takes more than a scalp-splitting to get a stoical Indian upset.

Mr. Tom, a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital since Saturday when he was in a 2 a.m. car mishap on the Malahat, is catching up on his reading.

He doesn't wear glasses.

In years past he lived on the old Songhees reserve across Johnson Street bridge, and now lives on the Mill Bay reserve.

Twice married, his three boys and two girls are dead.

But he has three grandchildren, "and 30 or 40 great-grandchildren."

This doughty warrior took part in an "old-timers" canoe race two years ago!

He has never smoked nor consumed liquor.

He had worked for innumerable years as a logger, and on highway repair crews.

Back when land sold for $1 an acre around the present legislative buildings, Mr. Tom recalls the "Queen" received 75 cents and the Indians, 25 cents.

It was in these days that he worked a month for the price of a pair of overalls!

Mentally alert, he has a ready sense of humor.

Ask him "how" and he says he's feeling good.

MILD WEATHER FOR WEEKEND; GALES LIKELY

Mild pre-Christmas weather is expected to continue over the weekend, according to the official forceast for the Victoria area.

Noon temperature today of 48 will probably be reached again Saturday. But gale warnings have been posted for tonight, with easterly winds reaching 35 miles per hour expected.

There will be cloud and some rain overnight, clearing Saturday morning.

CAT IN HOOD OF CAR MET SUDDEN DEATH

An unfortunate stray cat crawled into the hood of an auto on McNaughton Avenue this morning and was killed instantly when the owner started the engine.

Freeman Nott, Victoria builder, of 85 Obed, said when he pressed the starter the engine "kicked up an awful racket" and then stalled.

When he looked under the hood he found a cat had been killed by the revolving fan belt. It had crawled into the hood through a small hole in the pan under the engine.

"I'm amazed the poor cat managed to get up through this hole," Mr. Nott said, "but it couldn't have got in any other way."

Sentence Passed On TV Stealer

David Steel Craig, 23, drew a five-month sentence in city police court today so he can get a job when he gets out in the spring.

He had pleaded guilty to stealing a $200 TV set from the Cathay Apartment Hotel and selling it in the city for $50.

Craig, who has spent most of the last four years in prison, told the court he "never seemed to get out of jail" in the spring when jobs were available.

Magistrate William Ostler said that despite the young man's bad record, he would mete out a "lenient sentence" so when released the accused could take advantage of the seasonal work increase.

4-H Youth Chosen In New Year For U.S. Visit

Selection of a British Columbia 4-H Club member to represent the province at an American 4-H Club conference at Washington, D.C., will be made in the New Year.

Officials of the provincially-supervised farm youth club movement said district organizations will send names of proposed delegates to the provincial agriculture department. Then the best qualified youth will be chosen and named by the end of February.

Each province will send one delegate to the conference April 23-29. To qualify, a club member must be 18, a senior high school graduate with a good general knowledge of agriculture, as well as several years' background in 4-H activities. Winner in the province in 1959 was Jack Williamson of Pitt Meadows.

Meat-Hungry Thief Breaks Door Into Corner Store

If police have a lead on the thief who broke into a "corner store" at 800 Hillside during the night, it's probably that he's a heavy meat-eater.

Owner John Berezowski told city police today that one chicken loaf, three packages of sliced ham, 18 pork chops and six T-bone steaks had disappeared, along with about eight pounds of butter and 25 cartons of assorted cigarets.

Entry was gained by smashing glass in rear door, and prying back the inside bolt.

A neighbor said she heard glass shattering at 4.30 a.m., but did not investigate.

'Abolish Vote' On New Schools

Build Them Without Going To Electors Says Trustee

Reginald Sinkinson, vice-chairman of District 63 School Board (rural Saanich), said today the defeat of a $799,000 school bylaw in the outer areas of the Saanich Peninsula Thursday called for a change in the method of financing and voting on school construction.

REG SINKINSON
. . . bitterly disappointed

School boards, he said, should be given the authority to raise the money and to approve the construction of schools without going to the people.

The vice-chairman, bitterly disappointed with the results, said this was the system in practice in England and some parts of the United States.

54 PER CENT 'YES'

The bylaw failed to get a 60 per cent majority required to make the school construction program possible.

The vote was 1,679 to 1,294—about 54 per cent in favor.

Central Saanich municipality defeated the school construction program. The vote there was 412 for and 310 against.

The rural district of Saanich voted 656 to 383 in favor.

The village of Sidney and North Saanich voted 316 in favor and 265 against.

REAL NEED

Mr. Sinkinson said there is no use having school boards if they did not have the authority to approve school construction when there is a definite need.

"In England when there is a shortage of schools, they go up, regardless of whether the majority of taxpayers are against the expenditures," he said. "There is no fooling about the matter there."

He said under the present system a small majority of voters could hamper and hinder an educational program.

NEW VOTE SOON

Reeve George Chatterton urged school trustees to put the bylaw to another vote as soon as possible next year.

"There is going to be a serious shortage of classrooms if schools are not built," he said. "I don't think the people are fully aware of the situation."

The reeve felt that a simple majority should only be required to pass a bylaw instead of a 60 per cent vote.

'HE WASN'T WITH US'

Politics Caused Rift Says Chant

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant today suggested political differences contributed to disagreement with his former deputy minister Clive D. Campbell who is expected to stand against him in the next provincial election.

Mr. Campbell, now a consulting architect here, was suddenly dismissed last May after 28 years' government service. He said Thursday he had been asked to stand against Mr. Chant in Victoria riding, on a Progressive Conservative ticket.

"It is interesting to know that Mr. Campbell has now publicly acknowledged his interest in politics," said Mr. Chant.

"I always thought he wasn't with me and the government."

Mr. Chant's previous remarks, at the time of the controversial firing, had indicated he felt Mr. Campbell to be inefficient.

Mr. Chant added today: "I do not think any good purpose can be served by a lengthy rehash of the past except for some things which I want to put straight for the sake of my staff.

OTHERS DID WORK

"Other staff members who are still with us did by far the major part of the work and planning on Government House. Furthermore, Mr. Campbell can take no credit whatsoever for the plans we have for the new Victoria law courts building. (Although Mr. Campbell shared in the original planning, these plans were subsequently altered, he explained.)

"His one-time misdirected efforts to plan our law courts were not in accordance with my directions and consequently are not a part of our present plans.

BETTER MORALE

"The morale of the department has recently greatly improved, and it is certainly completely untrue that Mr. Campbell had not met with me for eight months. (This was charged by Mr. Campbell at time of his dismissal.)

The minister concluded: "During that time he was in my office on a number of occasions on department business and could have seen me more often had he so desired."

The minister indicated that if Mr. Campbell does decide to seek the Tory nomination and becomes the candidate, a great deal more facts concerning the dismissal will be brought out on the election platform.

Dowell to Ask Early Meeting On New City Hall

Ald. Arthur Dowell today said he will call a meeting early in the New Year for a special council committee on proposals for a new City Hall.

"We haven't very many things to consider yet but there will be a meeting," he said. The committee was set up in November after council turned down a "lease-back" proposal by a Vancouver construction company which wanted to build a nine-storey City Hall building here.

Delay in convening of the committee was caused in part by revived interest in a civic auditorium. It is generally agreed that the city could not undertake both projects simultaneously.

Ottawa Asked To Include City In Weather Report

Transport Minister George Hees has been asked why Victoria is omitted from the daily weather report issued by the Dominion meteoroligical department.

George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, complained to Defence Minister George Pearkes about this omission. Mr. Pearkes replied that he has raised the matter with the transport minister.

"It is disgraceful that Victoria should be left out of this report," Mr. Warren said.

City Tug Makes Good Speed To Stricken Ships

The Victoria deepsea tug Sudbury II is continuing to make good speed today toward a Dutch tug and two obsolete aircraft carriers disabled in a storm about 630 miles south of Midway Island.

The owners, Island Tug and Barge Ltd., believe the Sudbury will reach the scene Monday.

The tug, the Elbe, lost her tow of two carriers bound for a Japanese shipbreakers, and a towline fouled the tug's propellers.

Last reports from the Elbe, which lost the tow Tuesday, stated the ships were in no immediate danger.

There is a crew of 25 aboard the tug, and eight men aboard each carrier.

First Drydocking For Oil Tanker

The 22,000-ton oil tanker Michael Carrass entered Government Graving Dock at Esquimalt today for the marine version of a fast "shave-and-haircut."

Yarrows Ltd. will survey and paint the ship, and expect to finish the job by Saturday evening.

The Michael Carrass is being docked for the first time since she was built a year ago.

King Bros. Ltd. is Victoria agent.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Edith G. Robertson, 1324 St. David, no driver's licence and failing to yield right-of-way, $25 and $15.

Thomas John Irvine, Work Point, U-turn and no driver's licence, $10 and $20.

Roger Perron, 2560 Estevan, going through red light, $15.

Full Renovation Of Telephone Co. Building Scanned

A complete renovation of the B.C. Telephone Company building in Victoria is under consideration.

"It is under serious consideration and it is a substantial project," a company spokesman in Vancouver told the Times today. "But there definitely has not been any approval given yet."

The proposal calls for modernization of the building's exterior and complete renovation of the interior to obtain maximum space and increase efficiency.

The project would be a logical sequel to opening of a $1,500,000 automatic switchboard in a spanking new addition this spring.

ASK The TIMES

Q—Could you please tell me how old Barbara Ann Scott is, and what championship did she hold? And also was Sonja Henie better than Barbara Ann and who was the better skater? M.C.J.

A—Barbara Ann is now aged 31. She won the European championship in 1947 and 1948, and the Olympic title in 1948. Sonja was the better known as she won 10 world championships and three Olympic titles from 1927 on, made 11 Hollywood movies and starred in many ice revues in Europe and on this continent. Which was the better skater is an academic point as they never competed against each other.

Q—What was the date of Germany's attack on Russia in the Second World War? V.D.I.

A—June 22, 1941.

Chicken Liver Tidbits Are Popular at Parties

By PENNY SAVER

Canapes and hors d'oeuvres provide a welcome change from the quantities of rich desserts, cakes and cookies that one meets everywhere at this time of year. Party guests will enjoy nibbling on savory morsels and one needn't spend a lot of time in the kitchen in order to whip up something to tempt their appetites!

Chicken livers are delicious when seasoned with salt and pepper, they're fried or broiled and served on toothpicks. You'll find your friends trying them over and over again! Livers are selling at 90 cents a pound this weekend.

Another party suggestion is slices of 'savory duck'. These can be bought pre-cooked. Looking rather like the faggots that are so popular in the Old Country, they sell at two for 25 cents. Tasty mixture of liver, minced beef, onions and spices is delicious served warm and just as good, sliced, on a cold plate. Sandwiches of savory duck would give a party touch, too, to a youngster's school lunch.

Still on the party theme, cocktail sausage rolls are now selling at 50 cents a dozen and an especially attractive club salad can be had for 40 cents a pint. Salad consists of macaroni, ham and green peppers and one pint would be enough for four people.

Most unusual at this time of the year, are the quantities of fresh-caught salmon in town. Red winter spring salmon sells at 79 cents a pound.

Whiting is a wonderful buy, selling for a mere 45 cents a pound. This white fish is good whether you fry or bake it. Many housewives use whiting for their family's fish and chip meal.

Sweet potatoes will be in plentiful supply for those who prefer their flavor in the all important turkey dressing. Potatoes sell at 25 cents a pound. Hothouse tomatoes are low priced at 39 cents for two pounds.

Large black Ribier grapes are available at 35 cents a pound and luscious d'Anjou pears are selling at four for 25 cents.

World of Suzie Wong Affects Female Styles

LONDON (CP)—Londoners hardly turn their heads these days if they see one of their typical blonde English beauties teetering down the street in spike heels and a Chinese dress. It's getting to be the latest fashion fad.

The Oriental influence is becoming strong. Part of its popularity can be traced to The World of Suzie Wong, the play about a Chinese prostitute freshly arrived on the west end stage.

The play didn't stir the critics but it had repercussions in the field of fashion. In make-up and clothes, the Oriental look is having a vogue. One London newspaper, for instance, reports that a number of London fashion houses are starting to go into mass production of the cheongsam, the high-necked, slit-skirted sheath dress favored by many Asian girls.

More discreet dress firms have added Oriental details to their outfits. In the recent showing of the London house of Christian Dior, large, straw coolie-type hats were worn.

DEAR ABBY . . .

It's Worth It!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband started to teach me to drive the car. So far we have been out three times and have come back every time not speaking to each other. He called me, "stupid," and "bird-brain" and "knuckle-head."

When I drive slowly he tells me to "hurry up." When I go fast, he tells me to "slow down." He makes me nervous and my hands sweat and the wheel slips. When I apply the brakes too suddenly and the car jerks, he really snaps my head off. Otherwise he is a wonderful husband. How come when we get in the car for a driving lesson his whole personality changes? Are all husbands like mine or did I get a lemon? PATTI

DEAR PATTI: Most husbands lack the patience to teach their own wives how to drive. You would both be happier if you'd take driving instructions from a professional teacher. It is not expensive. But no matter what the cost—you can't afford not to.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl who is 16 years old and I have never had a boyfriend because I can't talk to boys. I have read up on the "art of conversation" but that hasn't helped any. They tell you how to talk, but they never tell you what to say. Recently I had a good opportunity to get a boyfriend, but I couldn't think of one thing to say to him so I lost him. Please help me.

TONGUE-TIED

DEAR TONGUE-TIED: In order to be good enough company for a boy to want to see you again, you should know something about that boy's interests. Almost every boy likes sports. Read the sports section of this newspaper daily. Know what's going on and you'll be able to discuss it intelligently. Read the front page news, too. If the boy has any brains he'll be interested in world affairs. Then, talk about "ideas" and ambitions and dreams and before you know it, you won't be able to get a word in edgewise. Good luck!

CONFIDENTIAL TO UNJUSTLY ACCUSED: A blood test would prove nothing in your case. If Mr. X. and your husband had the same blood type, the results would be the same.

'STREET OF LAUGHING CAMEL'

Drawing Sketches for Husband Keeps Her Busy

Alice Caddy Burman adds finishing touches to a sketching.

NEW YORK (NEA) — By the light of a window overlooking New York's Old Chelsea district, Alice Caddy Burman sketched in the final line of a laughing camel's face.

There are no camels that anyone knows of in Chelsea, but Mrs. Burman's mind was in Africa, and she was drawing from what you could call mental real life. For like her author-husband, she is most likely to be drawing about one place while she is oceans away from it.

Ever since their marriage some 30 years ago, the Ben Lucien Burmans have been working in that nomadic fashion. When Ben had gathered his material for "Steamboat Round the Bend," for instance, he packed up his notes and settled down in North Africa to write it. And Alice Burman took along her sketch notes to do the illustrations.

MAKES SENSE

That was quite a few years and 13 books ago, and now Ben Lucien Burman has just finished a novel about Africa. He came back to New York to write it, and Mrs. Burman was sketching a camel to go along with the words.

When you watched, it suddenly made sense. Despite the fact the beasts of burden in Old Chelsea are gas-eating trucks and buses, if you looked at the sketches and listened to the Burmans talk about the experiences behind them, you'd be carried away to Africa and "The Street of the Laughing Camel," which is the title of Ben Burman's new book.

By the time the book makes its debut, it's likely the Burmans will be off again. Ben Burman would rather be a gypsy than a home owner, and his wife isn't ready to settle down to a permanent address, either.

"Perhaps India will be next," Alice Burman said. "Perhaps South America. We haven't decided. We're eager to get going. We enjoy the adventure of seeing strange people and places."

She talked of Africa, where they've been many times, of being scared by crocodiles from the Congo River, of native chefs who cooked what they wanted rather than what she ordered and of the chef who got drunk before important dinner parties.

It was in Africa, too, her husband recalled, that they went adventuring in the early days of Second World War and discovered Gen. Charles de Gaulle and the outposts of Free France. Ben Burman broke that story to the rest of the world in dispatches.

Mrs. Burman's role as a rover in away-from-luxury places seems hard to believe at first. She is soft-voiced and daintily feminine, and you'd take her for a wife who should be protected from the rough edges of the world. But that's not how she sees herself.

DO THINGS TOGETHER

"I'm having a far more interesting life than if I had not been working with my husband," she said. "We get happiness and adventure from travelling and doing things together."

There have been adventures in Syria, Arabia, Jerusalem, gypsy camps, trips on the British canals, voyages on shrimp boats and Mississippi towboats—a whole wide world tourists never see.

And there was a honeymoon trip, when the mandolin-playing author first introduced his bride to the showboat and shanty people he has written about so faithfully.

Before that she was a highly paid fashion artist in New York. But there wasn't any adventure in that.

After 30 years, she'd still rather make sketches for Ben's books—especially sketches of laughing camels.

A MODERN LACE MAKER

Lone Woman Designer In Lace Industry

"Though little in this world is as feminine as lace, there is today only one woman designer working in the field in North America. She is Mary Ann Wackenhut.

Tall and blonde, Miss Wackenhut walked into her unusual job straight from school, as a graduate in art and textiles from college in 1950. She found her work by answering a newspaper ad and ever since she has been top designer for a well-known lace manufacturer.

Mary Ann's first six months on the job were not creative. She needed time to find out about lace and how it was made.

To her surprise she discovered that it was not possible to design a pretty pattern and then let others worry about making it work. She learned, quickly, that each design must be carefully contrived to meet the requirements and limitations of the machines. To that end, she now draws each finished sketch of a design on graph paper so that every stitch is clearly defined.

Lace, along with its beauty, is now more durable than ever before, Miss Wackenhut contends. The use of new fibres, especially nylon, have made it so. Now even the delicate, gossamer lace can be as practical as the garments which it decorates.

Laces made with nylon and other man-made fibres can be successfully washed at home. A thorough swishing in mild suds, careful rinsing and gentle smoothing is all that is necessary.

Miss Wackenhut deals closely with clothing designers and manufacturers. She often gets requests to design specific patterns, sometimes for peculiar end-uses. On one occasion she designed a rather heavy lace scroll to be used for men's sports shirts; it reportedly sold well in Las Vegas and Hollywood. On another, a striped lace for men's neckties turned into a good seller when used for dresses instead.

Mary Ann Wackenhut designs lace patterns.

UP TO DATE

Lace production and design are geared in the main, however, to present day trends in lingerie. An unusual gown or slip often gets its character or distinction from the last applique that is its chief trim. This application of lace does not just happen. It is carefully planned to fit the needs of the individual lingerie designer and manufacturer.

New lace patterns take from three to six months to develop—a complicated process from the design sketched on a piece of paper through the machine assembly to the finished lace. Lace designers work with garment designers well in advance to determine future trends.

This season, for instance, the swing has been to more and more appliqued lace instead of the lace which has been popular for some time as trimming.

NEW IDEAS

Miss Wackenhut does new patterns for each new fashion season. To keep herself supplied with fresh ideas, she looks for inspiration in every linear pattern from butterflies to coronets.

With the ever-increasing popularity of lace, Miss Wackenhut suggests that a small glossery of the different forms might prove useful:

"Edge" is a narrow lace, such as that used for trimming, with one straight edge for sewing, and one scalloped edge.

"Insertion" is a narrow lace with two straight edges.

"Galloon" is a narrow lace with two scalloped edges.

"Beading" is a narrow lace with slits or holes where ribbon may be laced through.

"Flouncing" is a wide lace with a definite top and scalloped bottom.

Ham-Chicken Party Dip

One-quarter cup butter, ¼ cup minced onion, ½ cup sliced mushrooms, ¼ cup flour, 1 10-oz. tin of cream of chicken soup, 2 cups diced cooked chicken, 1 tsp. salt, ½ cup chopped, toasted almonds.

Fry onion and mushrooms gently in butter. Add flour. Blend well. Add soup slowly, then add salt. Simmer about 5 minutes, then add chicken and almonds. Serve hot in a chafing dish, with crackers and melba toast.

Left-over dip may be used for canapes. Spread on toast, then heat in 450-degree oven 5 minutes, then place under broiler two minutes.

Tasty Canapes

One cup finely chopped cooked ham, 1 cup finely chopped cooked chicken, ¼ cup chopped onion, salt, pepper, mace to taste, 1 tin of any one of the following soups: cream of chicken, cream of celery, cream of asparagus or cream of mushroom.

Combine all ingredients. Spoon the filling into prebaked small tart shells. Set on a baking sheet and bake the tarts 15 minutes in a 375-degree oven, until a golden crust is formed. Number of servings varies with the size of the tart shells.

Horse Trainer

Common Sense Not Intuition Needed in Work

WINNIPEG (CP)—Womanly intuition takes a back seat when it comes to choosing winning racehorses, says Mrs. Wilma Kennedy, one of North America's few full-time women trainers of thoroughbreds.

"I'm all business when picking a horse," she said in an interview. "Everybody in the stable area treats me naturally—just as though I was one of the boys.

"Of course, I have to like the horse before I buy him," she said on a recent visit to the 30-acre Kennedy farm in suburban Charleswood. "But the attraction is in the animal's conformation, pedigree and temperament not in its color or anything like that."

Big Search

FLEETWOOD, England (CP)—A woman who lost her gold wedding ring in a garbage can telephoned her local council. It was found after 20 tons of garbage had been sorted.

Planning a Yule Party? Here Are Festive Hints

'Tis the holiday season . . . the season to be jolly and a perfect time for parties. Make yours an open house for friends . . . one and all. Holly, greens and Christmas cards arranged on side tables or mantelpiece are all you'll need in the way of decorations for your party. Another idea for decorating . . . staple "Christmas" on red and green ribbon and tack it up to frame a doorway.

Let friends know about your party by issuing invitations . . . print all pertinent information (time, place and date) on strips of green or red ribbon and staple, streamer fashion on to small white styrofoam balls (an inexpensive dime store purchase).

As for refreshments . . . make them snack-type. Feature a punch topped with a green ice wreath or ice stars; cookies, cheese twists and pick-up size sandwiches. The centrepiece is a sleigh (that you can make) laden with sweets . . . assorted chocolates.

If a buffet table presents a problem, simply push two bridge tables together and cover with a cloth. Decorate your table by tacking or taping the edge with the same kind of Christmas balls that you used for invitations . . . print Christmas greetings on the ribbons.

The perfect hostess greets every guest at the door, so have all the food prepared in advance; then get a friend to help tote and carry food from kitchen to buffet table.

HOLIDAY PUNCH

One and one-third cups instant pasteurized powdered skim milk, 2¼ cups water, 1 15-ounce package frozen sliced strawberries, thawed (about 1¾ cups), 2½ cups whipped instant pasteurized powdered skim milk, 1 pint lime sherbet.

Combine pasteurized powdered skim milk with water; stir lightly. Add strawberries; stir. Chill. Fold in whipped instant skim milk powder. (Serve punch topped with sherbet.) (Makes about 1½ quarts.)

To whip instant pasteurized powdered skim milk:

1. Mix ½ cup pasteurized powdered skim milk with ⅓ cup ice water;
2. Whip until soft peaks form (3-4 minutes). Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice;
3. Continue beating, while gradually adding ¼ cup sugar, until stiff peaks form (3-4 minutes longer.) (Makes about 2½ cups.)

OLIVE WREATH SANDWICHES

One four-ounce package cream cheese, softened, ½ cup cheese spread, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 2 tablespoons chili sauce, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and ¼ cup chopped pimento-stuffed green olives.

Combine cream cheese, cheese spread, mayonnaise, chili sauce and mustard; beat until blended. Add olives and mix well. Spread on bread rounds and garnish with olives, if desired. (Makes about 1¾ cups spread.)

CHERRY CANE COOKIES

One cup butter or margarine (softened), 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup rolled oats, ½ cup sifted confectioners' sugar, ¼ cup chopped glace cherries (about 15 cherries) and 2 teaspoons vanilla, glace cherries.

Combine butter or margarine, salt, sugar and vanilla. Beat until light and fluffy. Add flour, oats and chopped cherries. Mix just until blended. Shape into 4-inch canes, about ½ inch thick. Place on ungreased baking sheets and garnish with cherries. Bake in slow oven (325 deg.) 25-30 minutes, or until lightly browned. Makes about 28 4-inch cookies.

CHEESE TWISTS

Half cup crumbled blue cheese (about 3 ounces), dash salt and ¼ cup butter, 1 egg yolk, ¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour.

Cut cheese and butter into flour. Add salt and egg yolk; stir lightly. Press into ball. Roll out on lightly floured surface to ⅛-inch thickness. Cut into strips 5 inches by ¼ inch. Twist and place on baking sheet. Bake in hot oven (425 deg.) 10-12 minutes. Makes 24 twists.

A Paint Swallower

LONDON (CP)—Julia Alexander, 20 months old, watched in fascination as her father decorated their house. While his back was turned she grabbed the pot and swallowed a pint of paint. She was rushed to hospital where doctors said the paint appeared to have no harmful effect.

For the Festive Season

These fondant candies may be dipped in melted semi-sweet chocolate, or rolled in chopped nuts, or used to stuff pitted dates. Roll potato-shaped candies in cinnamon or cocoa; apple or strawberry-shaped candies in sugar tinted red. Place walnut or pecan halves on opposite sides of a few fondant balls and press together.

Potato Fondant

One baked medium potato, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ teaspoon almond flavoring, 2¼ cups icing sugar (approximately).

Remove inside of baked potato, mash well, add butter and beat until fluffy. Stir in flavoring then add icing sugar, a little at a time, working it in thoroughly using your fingers. Continue adding sugar until fondant is stiff enough to knead on a board. Form fondant into small balls and other shapes.

Eggnog

For larger quantities than the three cups of eggnog this recipe will make simply increase ingredients proportionately. If foamy eggnog is preferred, reserve half the egg whites; just before serving time, beat these egg whites until stiff and fold into eggnog mixture.

Three eggs, 1 tablespoon sugar, few grains salt, 2 cups milk, vanilla or sherry to taste, nutmeg.

Beat eggs slightly. Blend in sugar and salt. Gradually stir in milk and vanilla or sherry then strain, pour into glasses and sprinkle lightly with nutmeg.

Butter Icing

Use plain butter icing on Christmas cakes. Spread it directly on the cake, or on top of the almond paste when this is used.

One-third cup butter, few grains salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 cups icing sugar, 3 to 4 tablespoons milk or cream.

Cream together the butter, salt and vanilla. Stir in 1 cup icing sugar and beat until light and fluffy. Add remaining sugar and milk alternately. Beat until very smooth and fluffy. (This makes enough to ice top and sides of 8-inch or 9-inch square cake.)

Maple Tarts

Here's a tart that's a treat anytime! The recipe makes sufficient filling for 24 small tarts (cut rounds of pastry 3 inches in diameter).

One-quarter cup butter, ¼ cup cornstarch or 6 tablespoons flour, 1½ cups maple syrup, ½ cup hot water, 24 baked small tart shells.

Melt butter and blend in cornstarch or flour over low heat. Remove from heat and stir in syrup and water. Bring mixture to a boil, stirring constantly until thick, then continue cooking for 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Let cool at least 15 minutes before spooning into tart shells. If desired, garnish with whipped cream or chopped nuts.

Tourtieres (Pork Pies)

Tourtieres are traditional as part of the feast served in French-Canadian homes after midnight mass on Christmas Eve. These pork pies are so good, and so handy to have on hand during the festive season, that the consumer section thought you would like to share their recipe.

Three pounds minced lean pork, ¾ cup boiling water, ½ cup finely chopped onion, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, pastry for 3 double-crust pies.

Simmer pork in water 5 minutes. Add remaining ingredients and simmer until meat is white, about 10 minutes. Cool and skim off fat.

Line 3 pie pans with pastry, fill with meat mixture and cover with top crust. Bake in a very hot oven (425 deg. F.) until browned, about 30 minutes. Makes three 9-inch pies.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Two Methods for Getting Rid of Hair From Face

Josephine

Q. "I have hair on my face. Shall I use one of the hair removers? Will this make the hair come in thicker? Also is there any way to kill the roots?"

A. The only way to kill the roots or banish superfluous hair permanently is with electrolysis. You can use one of the depilatories on the hair on your face but this is temporary. There are some which were designed especially for this.

Q. "I have a problem. Every girl I know shaves her legs except me. My mother says that if I do the hair will grow in darker and twice as thick. Please help me."

A. So far as I have been able to discover there is absolutely no scientific basis for this belief. If there were, you certainly would have lots of company. I hope your mother will let you shave your legs because I know it must be embarrassing to you.

Q. "Please put in the paper how to bleach the hair on my arms. It is getting very noticeable."

A. Make a mixture of peroxide and household ammonia in these proportions: four drops of ammonia to three tablespoons of peroxide. Pat this on with cotton and let it dry.

Q. "I am 14 years old, stand 5 feet tall and weigh 135 pounds. I have a very large frame but I weigh far over what I should. I have finally come to dieting and would like to know what my measurements and weight should be, and would appreciate it if you would suggest some exercises. My measurements are: bust 35, waist 27 and hips 37 inches."

A. You have remarkably well-proportioned measurements for one of your age—in fact they are just about perfect. However, you are a lot overweight in spite of a large frame. In fact you are so much overweight that I think you should see your family physician and reduce under his guidance. Do not procrastinate because you will be much happier and enjoy life lots more if you lose those extra pounds.

Q. "I am constantly yawning and can't seem to help it. What causes this and what can I do to curb this habit?"

A. You may have low blood pressure. Sometimes nervous tension makes you crave more air. I suggest that you see a physician for a check-up.

SOLUTION MONDAY

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Janice Fletcher, aged 13, of Kershaw, S.C., for her question:

How Big Is An Atom?

The earth, oceans and the air, the sun, moon and all the stars are made of tiny atoms—too small for our eyes to see. Most of the everyday things around us are compounds of assorted atoms. Common salt is a compound of sodium atoms and chlorine atoms. It is made of molecules, each of which is a tightly knit bundle of one sodium atom and one chlorine atom. Is each grain of salt a molecule? Not at all. It contains more salt molecules than there are stars in the Milky Way — and each molecule is made from two atoms.

Magnified under a strong microscope, a grain of salt is a pretty sight indeed. It looks like a lump of ice cubes of various sizes, all frozen together in a glassy mass. Experts estimate that this salt crystal is made from 10 million, million, million, million molecules. You could write the number of atoms in a single grain of salt with the number 20 followed by 24 zeros. No wonder an atom is too small for our eyes to see.

Until lately, we had no instrument powerful enough to take a picture of an atom. In fact, the experts had just got around to saying that this could never be done. An atom, they said, is smaller than light waves, and therefore too small to be seen or photographed by any microscope. But, in the Age of Science, it seems nothing is impossible. In 1957, a new kind of microscope was used to photograph individual atoms for the first time.

Form Pattern Like Lace

The impossible job was done by Dr. Erwin Mueller at the University of Pennsylvania. The machine used was a field ion microscope which magnifies two million times—and no, Andy does not know how it works. The pictures are fascinating and some of them may be seen in a wonderful book called Elements of the Universe, by Dr. Glenn Seaborg. This is a book which every young person interested in physics will want to read—it is tops and written so that you can understand it.

A picture of tungsten, magnified two million times, shows clusters of atoms and individual atoms as bright dots arranged in a lacy doily design. Since the atoms are merely shown as bright dots, we do not yet have a clear portrait of an atom but we do have pictures to prove that individual atoms do exist. For more definite pictures, we must perhaps wait for more powerful instruments to be perfected.

There are, of course, about 90 different atoms in the world around us. The scientists have found a few more varieties in the laboratory. Each kind of atom has its own size, weight and number of particles. Hydrogen is the lightest, uranium one of the heaviest. Let's try to grasp the size of an average atom, the iron atom, for after all we live in the Iron Age. Suppose that everyone in North America were reduced to the size of an iron atom. What midgets we would be—if we all stood in a row we would measure about two inches. For it takes about 100 million atoms of iron to measure one inch.

PARIS (AP)—A powder-room crisis developed Thursday amid NATO efforts to strengthen defences of the western world.

Builders worked day and night to ready NATO's first permanent home for the present session of the NATO council.

In the rush, some finishing touches were forgotten in the only powder room on the entire completed section of the ground floor.

No curtains, screens or drapes adorn the wide windows looking out on to a busy street.

A makeshift sign on the door says "dames." That's the only sign of privacy.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

NEW YORK — The ultra-smart Colony Set hears that Billy Rose is quite determined about marrying Gysy Rose Lee — to the point that he wouldn't insist on Gypsy becoming "Gypsy Rose Rose"—but wouldn't even mind friends addressing him as "Billy Rose Lee."

Eddie Fisher was doing his next-to-the-next-to-the last show at the Waldorf. "What would you like to hear?" he asked. "SINATRA!" somebody screamed—Eddie, with a grin, repeated the answer. Liz Taylor, recovered sufficiently to leave with him for L.A., would have liked the way some gal in the audience insisted on being kissed by Eddie. "You kissed HER!" she squawked, pointing to Virginia Warren who had received a sisterly smooch.

Joey Adams' favorite story about his one-time partner Tony Canzoneri, who was found dead: When they teamed up in 1940, Joey asked Tony whether he wasn't nervous. Tony said: "Look, I fought Barney Ross, who could knock your head off, in front of 100,000 people and got $150,000. In this night club I'm getting a buck-and-a half for each show, and there are 11 people out there, and I can like every one of them. So why should I be nervous?"

DON'T EAT IT, CHILDREN TOLD

Poisoned Snow Warning

NAPANEE, Ont. (UPI)—Children here have been warned not to indulge in a favorite juvenile winter pastime—eating snow.

Police issued the warning Thursday after finding that meat containing strychnine crystals was scattered on the lawns of four houses in one street.

Three dogs died as a result and a fourth is being treated.

Authorities said that children could die if they ate snow containing the crystals.

One dog owner, B. R. Alkenbrack, said he received a telephoned warning from a man three weeks ago saying his dog would be poisoned if it were not tied up.

FAMILY RITE IN DANGER

Jeweler's Jealousy Could Crock Clock

SEATTLE (AP)—Hickory, dickory, dock . . . the jeweler "ran down" the clock . . . the battle's not done . . . hickory, dickory, etc., etc.

Nonsense?

Not to a Seattle family which bought an old 20-foot sidewalk pedestal clock for $25 six months ago and fought today for the right to keep it ticking away on a downtown street.

"Save our clock," was the cry carried by Mr. and Mrs. Dean Black to the board of public works.

A jeweler, Homer L. Carroll, demanded that the board have the clock removed from in front of a new addition to his store. It disturbs the appearance, he said.

Black, an electronics firm employee, looked for a year for a street clock to buy. This one was sold to him by a former jeweler, who first offered it to Carroll and was turned down.

Black pays the city $13 a year for occupancy of the sidewalk.

The board, in no mood to destroy sentiment with the approaching Christmas season, took the matter under advisement.

NUCLEAR SHELTER

'Mole Men' Up for Bath And Feast

PLEASANTON, Calif. (AP)—Ninety-six bearded men, eyes blinking at the sunlight, stumbled up from two weeks of a mole-like underground existence. They were human experiments in how to survive nuclear fallout.

Each had lost three to five pounds. The men's skin had a confinement pallor.

But the 96 all said that, if need be, they could have remained for two more weeks in the 1,200 square foot steel quonset hut 20 feet below the earth's surface.

"A complete success," said Dr. Wolmer Strope, chief of the U.S. Navy Radiology Laboratory's military evaluation division. He had spent the time with the men.

The men had subsisted on peanut butter bars, standard army rations and a special diet developed by the U.S. department of agriculture.

Opening lead—♥ K

In the play, West cashed his ace and king of hearts and gave his partner a ruff. East returned the queen of diamonds at which point South remarked, "This hand might just wind up with a trump coup," and proceeded to trump that diamond lead.

Now South played the ace and king of trumps and when West showed out he was ready. He played a club to the ace. Discarded the queen of hearts and a club on the ace and king of diamonds; ruffed a fourth diamond; played his last club to dummy's king and led another diamond.

East had to trump and South overruffed and made the hand.

The trump coup is one of the fanciest plays in bridge and West immediately pointed out that he could not have developed it if East had returned a club instead of a diamond. South came to East's defence and pointed out in turn that he was sure the four-spade double had been a double cross and that he South would have finessed for the spade jack if he had not been given the chance for the coup.

"FOREST" CEDAR SIDING

WHAT IS FOREST SIDING?

Made of dry 1½" stock in 10 and 12-inch widths. "FOREST" siding is a new type of siding obtained from specially-selected cedar logs sawn to show the beauty and character of knots, burls, etc.

APPEARANCE?

For homes and buildings where a distinctive and pleasing appearance is desired, enhanced by heavy shadow lines. Sound intergrown knots ranging in size from 2-inch in 6-inch widths to 4-inch in 12-inch widths add to the rustic appearance of this grade.

WHAT ARE ITS QUALITIES?

"FOREST" siding, with its substantial thickness and greater wood volume, adds to the structural STRENGTH and solidity of the building.

The design of "FOREST" siding ensures a tight weather seal at the lap which together with its thickness and flush-to-base principle, makes excellent material from the INSULATION standpoint.

"FOREST" siding represents an ECONOMY to home-builders. Costing less than most other types of siding the lap design ensures easy fitting and speedy application at less labor cost.

HOW IS IT APPLIED?

As easily and quickly as common shiplap. Each piece of "FOREST" siding fits snugly on the one below and requires only one mitre cut.

HOW CAN IT BE FINISHED?

If a natural finish is desired, use equal proportions of raw linseed oil and any well-known brand of waterproof sealer. This not only protects the wood surface, but also brings out the natural beauty of the knots and the grain. If a colored finish is desired "FOREST" siding can easily be painted. It is recommended that a sharp instrument be used to score the finished product underneath the butt (where it will not show) to stop formation of a vapor barrier.

* * *

I THINK ALL NETWORKS, including the CBC for last Sunday's hour-long special, should be congratulated upon their coverage of President Eisenhower's 11-nation trip. Quite in addition to the possible goodwill and inter-continent understanding that the tour may produce these visits-by-camera to foreign lands prove, for me at least, intensely interesting.

So often in these affairs the cameras tend to linger over-long on the dignitaries involved. But in the Eisenhower safari happily the lensmen took time out to scrutinize the crowds with almost loving care, dwelling on this turbaned face and that shawled woman, from horse, to goat, to the—to our eyes—queer means of locomotion. So excellent was the photography in some instances that you could almost feel the heat and smell the milling masses of humanity.

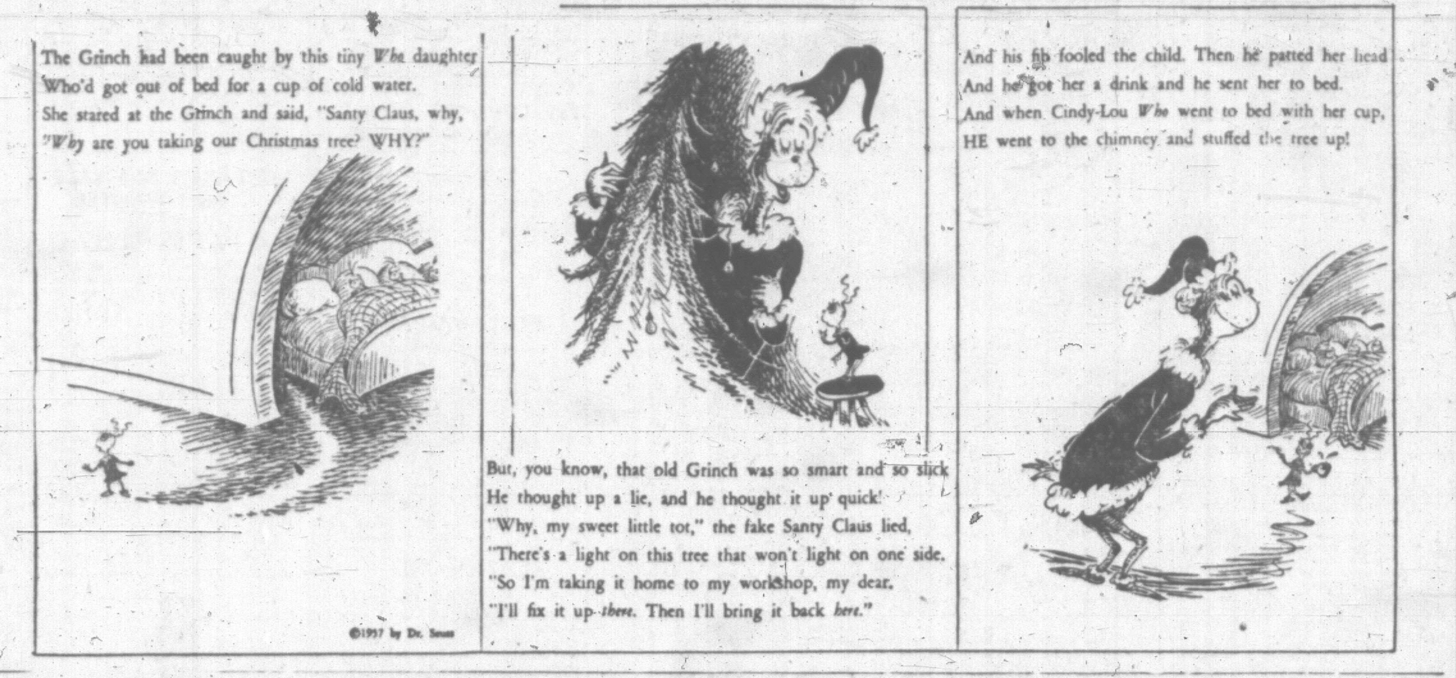
HOW THE GRINCH STOLE CHRISTMAS



The Grinch had been caught by this tiny Who daughter
Who'd got out of bed for a cup of cold water.
She stared at the Grinch and said, "Santy Claus, why,
"Why are you taking our Christmas tree? WHY?"

But, you know, that old Grinch was so smart and so slick
He thought up a lie, and he thought it up quick!
"Why, my sweet little tot," the fake Santy Claus lied,
"There's a light on this tree that won't light on one side.
"So I'm taking it home to my workshop, my dear.
"I'll fix it up there. Then I'll bring it back here."

And his fib fooled the child. Then he patted her head
And he got her a drink and he sent her to bed.
And when Cindy-Lou Who went to bed with her cup,
HE went to the chimney and stuffed the tree up!

Police 'Plant' In Jail Trap

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — A Vancouver policeman told Thursday how he posed as a "jailbird" and recounted a fictitious criminal record to gain the confidence of a murder suspect.

Constable John McCluskey testified at a preliminary hearing of murder charges against Chadwick Campbell, 34, and Lloyd Storey, 26, accused of murdering night watchman Vaino Alto in a safe-cracking attempt here Sept. 2.

McCluskey said he was put in the same cell as Campbell in Bellingham, Wash., posing as a ship's deserter who had been arrested for attempting to steal a car.

Campbell, who was picked up in Bellingham on a vagrancy charge, was later extradited to B.C.

Said McCluskey: "I told him I served nine months in Scotland for hurting someone and taking money.

"I also told him I had two wives, one in Scotland and one in England."

GAGLARDI JUNIOR FINED

KAMLOOPS — Robert John Gaglardi, son of Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi, was fined $10 and costs in police court Thursday for failing to stop his car at a stop sign.

LUMBER SHUTDOWN LOOMS

VERNON — Logging firms and truck operators in nearby Lumby said today they will close down operations if the provincial government enacts legislation restricting weights and licensing of heavy vehicles.

The action would leave 500 men out of work.

Some firms said it would be impossible to pass extra costs on to the consumer in the current, competitive lumber market.

BRIDGE FORGES AHEAD

VANCOUVER — Only 750 feet separate the north and south ends of the new $23,000,000 Second Narrows Bridge being constructed here.

Workers are pushing the completion through the winter weather and officials of Dominion Bridge Company said: "We haven't lost many days because of the weather . . . the men are working through weather conditions we wouldn't expect them to."

POTATO DISEASE THREAT

VERNON — An outbreak of two diseases is threatening to destroy the extensive North Okanagan potato growing industry.

The outbreak of bacterial ring rot and leaf roll is affecting most of the 70 major growers with 10 acres or more.

'SHORT-CHANGED'

VANCOUVER — Mayor Tom Alsbury charged Thursday the provincial government is remaining debt-free at the expense of the municipal governments.

"The government is discriminating against the local government," he told a Kiwanis luncheon. "It is not paying for its share of public services, especially education."

The mayor said the provincial government should pay at least 60 per cent of education costs instead of the 30 per cent it now pays.

U.S. Army Says Red Supplied Salt Poison

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — The United States Army charged today that the Czechoslovak vice-consul at Salzburg, Austria, provided a Communist agent with the poison recently reported found in salt shakers at the cafeteria of Radio Free Europe in Munich.

"The army counter-intelligence investigation shows that Jaroslav Nenec, a vice-consul at the Czech consulate in Salzburg, Austria, on Nov. 16 gave a Communist agent salt shakers containing atropine for placement in the RFE cafeteria in Munich," an official U.S. Army statement said.

"Clinical analysis, however, proved that they contained atropine in sufficient quantity to cause serious illness, the degree of which would depend upon the age and physical condition of the individual and the amount . . . consumed."

DISCLOSED PLOT

Disclosure of the plot against the private American-financed station which broadcasts anti-Communist propaganda was made Wednesday by its European director, Erik Hazelhoff.

He said he had notified U.S. and West German authorities after being tipped that the poison had been put in salt shakers at the station's cafeteria Nov. 21.

U.S. Army and West German officials at first denied they knew anything about the plot. But a spokesman Thursday said the army had been told about it.

Today's army statement said the plot was discovered by counter-intelligence agents during "normal security operations."

Hazelhoff said in his announcement that a "foreign Communist power" was behind the alleged poisoning but refused to identify the country. He said only that it was planned by a Communist diplomat stationed in Western Europe.

Hazelhoff said that an undercover agent who had been working with the Communists informed him of the plot. The director said none of the station's 1,200 employees was poisoned but that he ordered the cafeteria closed after the discovery. The cafeteria was reopened Thursday.

Admission Cards Ready For 'Amahl'

Many enquiries are being received at Christ Church Cathedral office regarding tickets for the production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors" in the Cathedral Dec. 28, 29 and 30.

Tickets cannot be sold for a cathedral event, but in view of the wide interest in "Amahl," not only locally but from up-Island and Vancouver, it has been decided to issue 700 printed cards for each evening.

These cards may be picked up from today on, at Hudson's Bay Company ticket bureau, Western Music on Fort Street and Ryland Huntley's Radio Lounge in Oak Bay.

Card-holders will be seated first each evening up to 8. After 8 possible non-card-holders may be seated, but it is hoped that everyone who wishes to attend will obtain the free cards and avoid disappointment.

A collection will be taken at the end of each performance to help defray costs of the expensive production.

2 Murderers Get Reprieve By Cabinet

OTTAWA (CP)—Two Quebec men—Gaspe Laborer Camille Lantin 22, and Fernand Aube, 33-year-old Quebec City barber—Wednesday had their death sentences commuted by the federal cabinte to life imprisonment.

Both had been scheduled to be hanged on Thursday, Lantin for the shoelace strangulation of a 14-year-old boy, Aube for the beating and death by fire of an elderly storekeeper in St. Nicholas, Que.

In neither case was there a recommendation of any kind from the juries that convicted the men.

Wednesday's commutations brought to 30 the number ordered by the cabinet since the progressive Conservative government took office in June, 1957. These include all 10 cases in which a jury had recommended mercy.

There had been seven executions in that time.

B.C. ELECTION RESULTS

By The Canadian Press

The northern cities of Prince Rupert and Prince George, with contentious issues and stiff mayoralty contests, saw civic voters turn out in record or near-record numbers Thursday as communities across British Columbia staged civic elections.

The outcome brought the return of Mayor P. J. Lester in Prince Rupert, where he defeated a former mayor and parks commissioner in a three-man race, and the defeat of Mayor Mrs. Carrie Jane Gray in Prince George, where she had run with backing of labor.

In all, seven of the 16 mayors seeking re-election in Thursday's voting were turned out of office.

Penticton's outspoken Charles Oliver was returned in a two-man race, but returns were not available Thursday night to show whether or not his opponents in council—Aldermen Paul Pauls and Mrs. Elsie MacCleave—won office. Mayor Oliver said he would resign if these two won seats in council.

In the Greater Vancouver area municipality of Surrey, George Hahn, former Social Credit member of Parliament for New Westminster, won handily in a four-way race for reeveship. Incumbent Robert Nesbitt ran third.

In Prince Rupert, 3,047 of the 4,269 eligible voters—or a record 71.3 per cent — turned out for the three-way mayoralty contest and rejected a contentious $900,000 water system referendum.

Nearly 60 per cent of the 4,300 eligible in Prince George turned out to elect Garvin Dezell, a building contractor and mayor of the city from 1950 through 1953, over Mrs. Gray.

In many areas of the province, cloudy and rainy weather, combined with lack of good issues, kept voting down.

Here is the full list of election results across B.C.:

RCMP PROBE

Illegal Talking At Polls?

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP) —RCMP are investigating a complaint that successful aldermanic candidate Pat Burns "interfered" with voters at a polling booth Thursday.

Bill Angus, successful mayoralty candidate, asked police to investigate after he received three phone calls saying Alderman Burns was talking to voters at the polling booth.

The penalty for interference is disqualification and a fine, he said.

RCMP officers said they went to the polling stations but found no evidence of interference with voters.

Ald. Burns, who is news director of radio station CKLG, was returned for a second term on city council.

Told of the charges, he said he had driven a voter to the polls and discussed the Spanish Civil War.

Park Site Cleared As Winter Project

DUNCAN—Eleven acres of city property sloping from Government Street to Boundary Street below the new Centennial Heights subdivision will be cleared of all underbrush as part of the city winter works program.

City Clerk Gordon Berry said Tuesday the $2,000 project will give employment to about 12 men.

Council decided the property, considered for some time to be a natural area for a park, would drain better and dry out once the underbrush is cleared away.

HOFFA FACES NEW TROUBLES FROM PROBER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leader of a monitoring body set up to oversee the Teamsters Union appealed in court today for more legal help in chasing down what he called some new "dirty business" in the big trucking union.

Martin F. O'Donoghue, chairman of the three-man court-appointed monitor board, said he has uncovered new evidence relating to teamsters president James R. Hoffa's use of $400,000 in teamsters funds to help finance a Florida real estate project.

But O'Donoghue complained to the U.S. Court of Appeals that he needs more legal help to pit against an array of union lawyers blocking him with litigation at every turn.

Negro Pupils 'Spit On'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Charles C. Diggs (D., Mich.) has charged that Negro students in integrated high schools at Little Rock, Ark., are being spit on, struck and kicked daily. He asked President Eisenhower to intercede personally.

Diggs made his charges in letters to Eisenhower and to Everett Tucker, president of the Little Rock school board. He wrote them after a visit "of several days," in Arkansas.

Canada's national parks had a record number of visitors in 1959; the total to the end of October reaching 4,764,000.

Ruling Reserved On Gas Pipeline

The Public Utilities Commission reserved its decision Thursday afternoon after hearing final submissions from two companies competing for a franchise to build a gas pipeline to bring Peace River gas to Vancouver Island.

Walter Owen, QC, submitted that if the Island Transmission Company of Nanaimo received the franchise, it would give employment to 300 or 400 Canadians on the Island.

On the other hand, he said, if the Magna Pipeline Company of Vancouver got the franchise, the work would go to British Insulated Callanders (Submarine Cables) Ltd.

"This British company would supply the pipeline and it would be laid by a cable ship. Most of the money would be spent in Britain, whereas Island Transmission would spend all its funds in Canada and give much-needed employment to Canadians."

USE LOCAL SHIP

Island Transmission proposes to buy 10-inch welded steel pipe from a Canadian company at Saulte Ste. Marie and adapt a local freighter for use as a cable-laying ship. The cost of this project was estimated at $16,000,000.

The Magna company submitted plans to build a $14,000,000 pipeline from the mainland to Crofton on the Island, using 4.85-inch flexible steel and plastic pipe.

Mr. Owen said there was no evidence to support an argument by the Magna company that flexible pipe would be safer in the event of earthquake tremors such as were felt in this area recently.

"There has been no evidence whatever of any disruption of undersea cables by earthquakes," counsel said. "This argument is decidedly far-fetched."

For the Magna company, John Taggart argued that flexible pipe would be better suited to the contours of the ocean bed between the mainland and Vancouver Island.

ALREADY TESTED

He said this kind of pipe, manufactured by the British firm of Callanders, was used successfully in the laying of the B.C. Electric cable from the mainland to Vancouver Island three years ago.

Mr. Taggart said the Magna Company had proposed laying a gas pipeline to Vancouver Island as long ago as 1955, before the gas pipeline from Fort St. John to Vancouver was built.

"The Magna company had the foresight to plan this project then and it was concurred in by the B.C. Electric company provided it had the opportunity of distributing gas in the Greater Victoria area."

Mr. Taggart said it was in the public interest that natural gas should be brought to Vancouver Island "by the most reliable means and at reasonable prices."

4-POINT ARGUMENT

He maintained the Magna company could supply both these needs. He gave four reasons why Magna should be granted the franchise:

1. A sure supply of gas. 2. Ability to instal and maintain a reliable transportation system. 3. Ability to sell gas in present and future industrial, commercial and residential markets at reasonable prices. 4. A balanced financial program.

He said Island Transmission based its project on being able to buy gas from West coast Transmission Co. at Huntingdon at 22 cents per thousand cubic feet.

"I submit this project is not feasible," Mr. Taggart declared. "I do not think they can buy gas at less than 30 cents per thousand cubic feet."

IKE AMONG LES NAUGHTY GIRLS

If Walls Could Talk...

By EDDY GILMORE

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower will talk, eat and sleep this weekend in houses once graced by some of France's naughtiest women.

Les girls were:

Madame Pompadour, mistress of King Louis XV.

Josephine, Napoleon's wife.

The Duchess of Bourbon, a pre-revolutionary beauty adored by many.

And Catherine de Vivonne, one of the best salon-keepers in France's long history of such establishments.

The houses are the Elysee Palace and the Chateau de Rambouillet.

The palace—once owned by Pompadour and also Napoleon's residence—now is the official home of that austere statesman, President Charles de Gaulle. The chateau is his summer residence.

Eisenhower will meet the Western big three in the paalce Saturday, and will be de Gaulle's overnight guest Sunday at the chateau, outside Paris.

The Comtesse de Toulouse often entertained Louis XI and his many lady friends when she owned it.

And in 1617 Catherine de Vivonne liked to invite great wits and philosophers to her town house in Paris and then whisk them out to her fabulous parties.

If the walls could talk, Eisenhower would not get much sleep.

YOU DIDN'T GET CARD —IT MAY BE BURNED UP

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Thousands of holiday greeting cards bound for Canada have been burned by postal officials here in recent days.

Postmaster Myron F. Blakeney said thousands had been received here—a transfer point—in unsealed envelopes bearing three-cent stamps. Sealed or unsealed envelopes headed for Canada must have four-cent stamps.

Where possible, he said, letters are delivered in Canada but the receiver is taxed an additional two cents, one for the deficit and one for a penalty. Where envelopes contain return addresses, they are being returned.

Otherwise, they go to the city incinerator.

Big U.K. Plane Firms Reveal Merger Plans

LONDON (Reuters) — Two big British aircraft firms, Hawker Siddeley and de Havilland, have announced plans to merge.

A joint statement said the merger will bring about "the most powerful organzation of its type in the British Commonwealth."

The merger is to be carried out by an offer of Hawker shares to de Havilland shareholders. The de Havilland board of directors is recommending acceptance of the bid.

Both companies are deeply involved in the development and production of guided weapons and have wide interests in Canada, Australia and other countries.

The terms of the offer are a straight exchange of one Hawker £1 ordinary share, which closed on the London Stock Exchange Wednesday at 29 shillings and sixpence for one similar de Havilland share, which closed at £1.

BLOOD COSTLY IF NOT GIVEN BY RED CROSS

VANCOUVER (CP) — Hospital patients could pay as much as $80 for a pint of blood if it was not administered through the Red Cross transfusion service, Mr. Justice Harry Sullivan said Wednesday in announcing British Columbia's campaign objective next year is $695,400.

Mr. Justice Sullivan is chairman of the fund-raising drive which will be held throughout the province in March.

He said the Red Cross obtains blood from voluntary donors and supplies the costly services of technicians and storage so the patient does not have to pay a fee.

1.18 Mile Road Contract Let For $2,242,723

One of the most expensive contracts ever awarded for Trans-Canada highway construction—involving more than $2,000,000 a mile — has just been awarded by the highways department.

Department officials said the contract for $2,242,723 for construction of 1.18 miles of the national road through China Bar Bluffs in the Fraser Canyon has been awarded jointly to the Emil Anderson Construction Company and Highway Construction Company of Vancouver.

The cost will be split 50-50 between the provincial and federal governments.

The China Bar Bluffs sector is through sheer mountainous terrain overhanging the turbulent Fraser River.

LOTTA HITSCHMANOVA:

'I Can't Sleep Until Money In'

OTTAWA (CP) — The Unitarian Service Committee which brings relief and rehabilitation in Canada's name to the stricken children of the world needs $45,000.

Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, its tireless director, said on return from her annual fund raising tour: "I can't sleep until every last cent is in the bank."

The campaign, to support 62 projects in 11 overseas countries, requires $45,000 before the Christmas Day deadline to reach its $250,000 objective.

Since September 8 red haired Dr. Hitschmanova has made 158 speeches in 50 cities and towns from St. John's, Nfld., to Victoria. She appeared on every television station in Canada but one.

"I have the most appealing and urgent topic, I think, and people want to learn more about it," she said in an interview.

VITAL HELP

"Forty-five thousand dollars is a lot of money if measured in terms of children's hunger and children's suffering. I would not know where to cut any of those 62 projects."

A former newspaper woman in Czechoslovakia, Dr. Hitschmanova was a refugee herself for two years during the Second World War before reaching Canada.

Within three years she had founded the USC and was in war-torn Europe helping alleviate suffering.

One of the reasons for difficulty in raising money is that "one of our best friends, the farmers, do not have the money this year," she said.

One of the largest contributions was $1,000, received from an 88-year-old woman Dr. Hitschmanova happened to visit in a Victoria hospital.

455 Billion Cigarets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans smoked a high of 455,000,000,000 cigarets in 1959, the Tobacco Institute Incorporated reported Wednesday. James P. Richards, president of the industry-supported group, said the total compared with 436,300,000,000 cigarets consumed in 1958 and 409,400,000,000 in 1957.

GRADE 4 DONATIONS BOOST KOREAN CRIPPLED KIDDIES FUND

Showing the spirit of Christmas sharing in the most direct fashion, four youngsters from George Jay School today brought $10 into the Times for the war-crippled children in Korea.

The sum was collected from classmates in Grade Four.

Quartet of collectors were Robert Wood, Rosalie Roskelley, Jo-Anne Nadiger, all aged nine, and Helmut Althaus, 10.

The children have learned young the old and true adage that happiness can't exist unless shared.

This sharing makes everyone a stronger link in the intricate chain of human fellowship.

This is no more apparent throughout the year than at Christmas, when hearts warm to the needs of others and there is pleasure in giving.

But, sometimes, we don't give always where the need is greatest.

Things really close to home look much more important than a gift, say, to a struggling "little person" many miles away.

In an effort to put the spirit of giving in true perspective, the Times has combined with the Unitarian Service Committee to help war-maimed "little persons" in the Sam Yook home for disabled children in Seoul, Korea.

Donations, by cash or cheque, may be brought or sent to the Times' downtown office, 1215 Broad, or to the main office, 2631 Douglas. Cowichan Valley residents may deal through the Times' Duncan office, 30 Kenneth Street. All gifts are income tax deductible.

THE TAIWAN PUZZLE

Brave Surface Hides Heartache

This is the third in a series of articles by Times editor Bruce Hutchison written after his recent visit to Taiwan (Formosa), where he interviewed Chiang Kai-shek and other leaders of the free Chinese.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

No Westerner can begin to grasp the hope and tragedy of Taiwan until he has been there and seen it for himself. Even then, if he is a casual tourist enjoying one of the Pacific's loveliest islands, he may not suspect the heartbreak beneath the brave surface of an exile government and a booming economy.

Hutchison

It is only when the ancient Chinese reserve breaks down and the exiles speak their real minds that one glimpses their passionate yearning for the old mainland home. And in the power struggle of the world the mainland seems to recede further every day into the mists of Formosa Strait.

The political facts of this flash-point of world explosion are easily understood. While the United States will hold Taiwan as a vital strategic base, it will not attack the mainland or let the formidable army of Taiwan attack it, not at least until the Communist regime collapses in counter-revolution. Chiang Kai-shek is well leashed.

But the human facts underlie, distort and may some day endanger the facts of politics. For the government of Taiwan lives, moves and has its being in the hope of recovering the mainland.

What happens if the exiles lose their hope, if the spiritual cement of this strange experiment dissolves? That is the haunting question which confronts not only Chiang but the United States.

It can be postponed while

Plane Lost On Coast

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — A San Francisco-bound plane with at least three persons aboard disappeared Thursday night after the pilot radioed one engine had quit.

The last message from the two-engined PBY-6A amphibian received by the coast guard at Annette Island, 250 miles south of here, gave a position 28 miles north of Annette. Radio contact then was lost.

REEVES DISAPPOINTED

Anti-Fluoride Ratio 13 to 8

Greater Victorians Thursday voted 13 to 8 against fluoridation of the water supply.

That was the average margin by which the health measure was defeated in Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt when a total of 6,483 voted against and 3,965 voted for it.

The same margin prevailed last week when Victoria effectively killed the proposal.

All told, 13,265 votes against and 7,934 votes in favor were cast by persons in the four municipalities in this year's area-wide referendum.

Oak Bay showed the most support for the measure where the vote broke at about four to three with 2,109 against and 1,543 in favor.

Saanich put up the stiffest resistance to the proposal, voting 3,513 against and 1,922 in favor—about seven to four.

Esquimalt voters rejected the referendum 861 against and 500 in favor — slightly more than three to two.

Victoria's vote approximated the average ration at 13 to eight against.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch alone appeared happy with the result of the fluoridation referendum Thursday. Personally opposed to the measure, he said the "people are beginning to take a little cognizance of their freedoms and to assert their democratic rights.

"I don't think it was pure cussedness which caused the defeat. The people turned down fluoridation here, as they have everywhere else, because they felt it infringed on their rights."

Saanich Reeve George Chatterton and Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele, both of whom kept their own counsel prior to the vote, were disappointed at the result.

Reeve Chatterton said he had hoped he could realize some savings on his annual family dental bill, of about $400, through introduction of fluoridation.

Reeve Wurtele said he was disappointed that the measure was turned down after it had received unanimous support of doctors and dentists here. He attributed the defeat to the belief of many that the health measure would infringe on their rights.

NEW DEMANDS BY STEELMEN

CHICAGO (UPI) — The United Steelworkers today served new demands on the steel industry "slightly higher" than the Kaiser steel formula. The union warned the companies if they refuse to resume negotiations on a company-by-company basis, it would seek contempt of court citations for refusal to bargain.

CHOU EN-LAI

Chou Offers Parley On Border

PEKING (Reuters) — Premier Chou En-lai has offered to begin talks with Prime Minister Nehru beginning Dec. 26 on the long-standing frontier dispute between Red China and India.

He suggested they meet in "any place in China," or else in the Burmese capital of Rangoon.

In a 3,000-word letter sent to Nehru Thursday and published here tonight, Chou welcomed the Indian leader's proposal to stop sending out patrols and said China had already given orders to that effect to its border guards.

Referring to charges made in an Indian note to Peking Sunday that China had maltreated Indian personnel captured in recent border incidents, Chou said that his had been "arbitrarily asserted" by India "disregarding the objective facts."

Replying to a letter from Nehru on Nov. 16, Chou said the two countries should consult on how far each should withdraw its troops from the border.

Chou wrote that pending agreement on a withdrawal along the entire border, China is prepared to try for a partial solution by applying Nehru's proposal that no troops be stationed at the northeast outpost of Longju or other disputed places on the border.

Big 4 Gathers For Crucial Talks

(From Times News Services)

PARIS—Leaders of the United States, Britain and West Germany converged today on Paris for a summit conference with France—already in trouble because of a Franco-American dispute over NATO and Algeria.

The belief in the allied camp was that only a face-to-face meeting Saturday between President Eisenhower and President Charles de Gaulle could blunt the sharp differences and permit the western "big four" to try to chart a dynamic approach to the end of the cold war.

Eisenhower arrived at Paris by train this afternoon from Toulon to a formal welcome by De Gaulle.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew in from London this morning, followed by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer from Bonn.

The western big four planned at their three-day meeting starting Saturday to place the problem of ending the nuclear age arms race at the top of the list in preparing for their meeting next spring with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

This approach had the ringing endorsement of all 15 NATO foreign ministers who Thursday urged the major western powers to take "every opportunity" to try to defuse the world powder keg through worldwide disarmament.

An air of tension hung over the western council table as the diplomats awaited the confrontation of Eisenhower, fresh from his triumphal "peace mission" of Asian, African and European countries, and De Gaulle, smarting under American criticism of his country's military policies.

There also were differences between Eisenhower and De Gaulle over the civil war in Algeria.

Concentrating on Disarmament'

Eisenhower discussed the situation Thursday with President Habib Bourguiba of newly-independent Tunisia and both agreed the Algerian war was a "cause of grave concern."

The decision of the four Western leaders to concentrate on foolproof, controlled disarmament shoved partially into the background the explosive issues of Berlin and German unification—the problems which originally touched off the current diplomatic merry-go-round.

Macmillan said at the airport he is convinced a unified approach to the East will be produced in the weekend sessions.

Adenauer said he came for talks "aimed at the welfare and peace of Europe and the world."

Eisenhower, meanwhile, fit and cheerful after a three-day Mediterranean cruise, landed in France to an echoing 21-gun salute at Toulon harbor.

At the dockside ceremony Eisenhower said that while "not always has everything been clear sailing between us . . . under General de Gaulle France and the United States are part of a great coalition, and we are determined from a position of strength to pursue peace as much as we possibly can."

"We are sure that one day we shall win out."

Pearson Favors Free Vote on Death Penalty

(From Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Opposition Leader Lester Pearson is in favor of a free vote on capital punishment at the next session of Parliament.

It is possible that all leaders of Canada's three national parties may cast their ballots against capital punishment. Mr. Pearson's attitude on the question of a free vote was reported here today.

For weeks here pressure has been building up for members to be given the right to vote as their conscience and not the party dictates on the controversial question of capital punishment.

The question will arise in the House as it has on previous occasions over a private member's bill to abolish the deatn sentence, being introduced by Frank McGee, (PC-York-Scarboro).

Full Effort on Columbia By B.C. Urged by Fulton

BY TOM GOULD
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Justice Minister Davie Fulton indicated today Ottawa hopes B.C. will concentrate all its efforts toward development of the Columbia River—and not the Peace.

Mr. Fulton was commenting on the news from Washington Tuesday that the International Joint Commission has reached agreement on a draft of principles under which the Columbia can be developed by Canada and the U.S.

He said the federal government's expectations are "we will be able to see the realization of an ambition in which we have always had faith—that the Columbia River will be the next logical great power development in B.C."

Under questioning, he said: "It is well known there have been suggestions in B.C. that the Peace River should precede the Columbia development."

"We hope the B.C. government will devote maximum effort now to a co-operative development on the Columbia on the basis of the mutually advantageous terms the IJC has agreed to in principle."

Mr. Fulton, like other federal cabinet ministers, was extremely reluctant to enter the Columbia-Peace controversy on a no-holds-barred basis.

The fear in Ottawa is that any statements that would arouse the anger of Premier Bennett could serve to hold up federal-provincial agreement on successive phases of the Columbia program.

However, Mr. Fulton made it clear where Ottawa stands. He was asked whether Ottawa would stop the Peace River project through legislative means available to it—the Navigable Waters Protection Act was cited as a possibility, since the Peace River is a navigable river.

"We would rather not concern ourselves with any problems that may arise on the Peace," he said. "We are concentrating on the Columbia. We want to get on with the job."

$56 Million Loan Proposed for Work On Suez Waterway

WASHINGTON (AP)—The World Bank is expected to approve a loan of $56,300,000 next week for the widening and deepening of the Suez Canal.

Bank officials said the board of governors will meet Monday to consider the loan. They refused to predict the outcome but informed circles said the board probably will approve the loan unanimously.

Approval was recommended by a group of bank experts who examined the project last May.

½ AWAKE NIGHTS ½ ASLEEP DAYS
Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They toss and turn in bed—and then are dull and listless throughout the day. All of which may be due to a temporary toxic condition which calls for the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills.
Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they slow down and impurities stay in the system, disturbed rest, tired feeling and backache often follow. If you don't rest well at night—if you haven't that sprightly step of health in the daytime—use Dodd's Kidney Pills. You can depend on Dodd's!

QUAKERS COLLECT FOR 'LIFE-SAVERS'

Donation of $4 will buy a blanket that can help save an Algerian refugee child from freezing to death as he sleeps in mountain hideouts across the border from his strife-torn land.

Contributions to alleviate desperate conditions of some 250,000 Algerian refugees will be accepted at the 1831 Fern Street meeting house of the Society of Friends (Quakers), Victoria relief secretary I. M. Vallance said today.

Money and warm clothing are sought.

Contributions will be used to help the refugees who have fled to Tunisia and Morocco from the French military pacification of Algeria. More than half are children under 15, living in mountain caves where temperatures frequently drop below freezing during the winter.

"SO PITIFUL"

The local appeal for donations followed receipt of a letter from Rita Morgan, Quaker relief worker, which said:

"I have just come from the frontier, visiting encampments there—while cannons were booming (on the Algerian side).

"The condition of the people is so pitiful that I can find no words to tell you. And I have had experience with the Arab refugees in Gaza and before that with Greek refugees.

"These are in far worse condition. Many will surely die."

MONTE ROBERTS

This space sometimes has the privilege of passing along good news to the constituents, sometimes just passable news, sometimes bad news.

And today this space feels duty bound to pass along THIS news, which you can evaluate as you please:

A firm in Oregon is producing do-it-yourself Christmas tree kits for sale through a mail order house.

These are six-foot trees, with removable fir boughs, designed to be assembled at home.

They come in a kit containing 46 fireproof Douglas fir boughs and a drilled wooden trunk, into which the boughs can be stuck to create a perfectly shaped tree.

I do not know how you will classify this item of news, but in my book it comes under the heading of news I could get along without.

It is not that I object to the do-it-yourself trend. Far to the contrary, I feel the only way to procure a Christmas tree is to do-it-yourself—go out into the woods, preferably on a chilly day (I was going to saw snowy, but what's snow?), get your feet wet and rain down the back of your neck, spend hours going from tree to tree until you've found just the exactly ideal one you want, and then remember you've forgotten to bring the axe.

And it's not that I object to this do-it-yourself tree being delivered from a mail order house, ready for assembly.

It's the thought of a perfectly shaped tree which moves me into the ranks of those who prefer to vote "no."

Start with a perfectly shaped Christmas tree, and where do you end?

You end with a Christmas tree completely lacking a personality. You end with a tree geometrically designed, with the red lights balanced by the blue lights and the green lights and the yellow lights, topped with an erect and dignified white star.

As far as I am concerned, a proper Christmas tree should lean a little off kilter, with far too long boughs in back and far too short boughs in front.

It should look a little ragged around the edges, have a raffish appearance and tend to lean backwards in the corner as it supports itself against the wall with outspread limbs, like the host at 2 a.m.

This perfectly-shaped, Oregon-produced, do-it-yourself Christmas tree has the same appeal for me as a hat rack tastefully decorated with metal coat hangers.

Progress is a fine thing, but let's continue to go out into the woods, choose our own unbalanced tree, and then remember we've forgotten to bring along the axe.

SAM TOM . . . recuperating in hospital.

LO, THE HARDY INDIAN . . .

100-Year-Old Shrugs Off Injury

Sam Tom is doing nicely, thank you.

He isn't at all worried, despite his injuries.

After all, when one is a strong man who has led a clean life for 100 years and five months, it takes more than a scalp-splitting to get a stoical Indian upset.

Mr. Tom, a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital since Saturday when he was in a 2 a.m. car mishap on the Malahat, is catching up on his reading.

He doesn't wear glasses.

In years past he lived on the old Songhees reserve across Johnson Street bridge, and now lives on the Mill Bay reserve.

Twice married, his three boys and two girls are dead.

But he has three grandchildren, "and 30 or 40 great-grandchildren."

This doughty warrior took part in an "old-timers" canoe race two years ago!

He has never smoked nor consumed liquor.

He had worked for innumerable years as a logger, and on highway repair crews.

Back when land sold for $1 an acre around the present legislative buildings, Mr. Tom recalls the "Queen" received 75 cents and the Indians, 25 cents.

It was in these days that he worked a month for the price of a pair of overalls!

Mentally alert, he has a ready sense of humor.

Ask him "how" and he says he's feeling good.

MILD WEATHER FOR WEEKEND; GALES LIKELY

Mild pre-Christmas weather is expected to continue over the weekend, according to the official forceast for the Victoria area.

Noon temperature today of 48 will probably be reached again Saturday. But gale warnings have been posted for tonight, with easterly winds reaching 35 miles per hour expected.

There will be cloud and some rain overnight, clearing Saturday morning.

CAT IN HOOD OF CAR MET SUDDEN DEATH

An unfortunate stray cat crawled into the hood of an auto on McNaughton Avenue this morning and was killed instantly when the owner started the engine.

Freeman Nott, Victoria builder, of 85 Obed, said when he pressed the starter the engine "kicked up an awful racket" and then stalled.

When he looked under the hood he found a cat had been killed by the revolving fan belt. It had crawled into the hood through a small hole in the pan under the engine.

"I'm amazed the poor cat managed to get up through this hole," Mr. Nott said, "but it couldn't have got in any other way."

Sentence Passed On TV Stealer

David Steel Craig, 23, drew a five-month sentence in city police court today so he can get a job when he gets out in the spring.

He had pleaded guilty to stealing a $200 TV set from the Cathay Apartment Hotel and selling it in the city for $50.

Craig, who has spent most of the last four years in prison, told the court he "never seemed to get out of jail" in the spring when jobs were available.

Magistrate William Ostler said that despite the young man's bad record, he would mete out a "lenient sentence" so when released the accused could take advantage of the seasonal work increase.

4-H Youth Chosen In New Year For U.S. Visit

Selection of a British Columbia 4-H Club member to represent the province at an American 4-H Club conference at Washington, D.C., will be made in the New Year.

Officials of the provincially-supervised farm youth club movement said district organizations will send names of proposed delegates to the provincial agriculture department. Then the best qualified youth will be chosen and named by the end of February.

Each province will send one delegate to the conference April 23-29. To qualify, a club member must be 18, a senior high school graduate with a good general knowledge of agriculture, as well as several years' background in 4-H activities. Winner in the province in 1959 was Jack Williamson of Pitt Meadows.

Meat-Hungry Thief Breaks Door Into Corner Store

If police have a lead on the thief who broke into a "corner store" at 800 Hillside during the night, it's probably that he's a heavy meat-eater.

Owner John Berezowski told city police today that one chicken loaf, three packages of sliced ham, 18 pork chops and six T-bone steaks had disappeared, along with about eight pounds of butter and 25 cartons of assorted cigarets.

Entry was gained by smashing glass in rear door, and prying back the inside bolt.

A neighbor said she heard glass shattering at 4.30 a.m., but did not investigate.

'Abolish Vote' On New Schools

Build Them Without Going To Electors Says Trustee

REG SINKINSON . . . bitterly disappointed

Reginald Sinkinson, vice-chairman of District 63 School Board (rural Saanich), said today the defeat a $799,000 school bylaw in the outer areas of the Saanich Peninsula Thursday called for a change in the method of financing and voting on school construction.

School boards, he said, should be given the authority to raise the money and to approve the construction of schools without going to the people.

The vice-chairman, bitterly disappointed with the results, said this was the system in practice in England and some parts of the United States.

54 PER CENT 'YES'

The bylaw failed to get a 60 per cent majority required to make the school construction program possible.

The vote was 1,679 to 1,294—about 54 per cent in favor.

Central Saanich municipality defeated the school construction program. The vote there was 412 for and 310 against.

The rural district of Saanich voted 656 to 383 in favor.

The village of Sidney and North Saanich voted 316 in favor and 265 against.

REAL NEED

Mr. Sinkinson said there is no use having school boards if they did not have the authority to approve school construction when there is a definite need.

"In England when there is a shortage of schools, they go up, regardless of whether the majority of taxpayers are against the expenditures," he said. "There is no fooling about the matter there."

He said under the present system a small majority of voters could hamper and hinder an educational program.

NEW VOTE SOON

Reeve George Chatterton urged school trustees to put the bylaw to another vote as soon as possible next year.

"There is going to be a serious shortage of classrooms if schools are not built," he said. "I don't think the people are fully aware of thme situation."

The reeve felt that a simple majority should only be required to pass a bylaw instead of a 60 per cent vote.

Politics Caused Rift Says Chant

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant today suggested political differences contributed to disagreement with his former deputy minister Clive D. Campbell who is expected to stand against him in the next provincial election.

Mr. Campbell, now a consulting architect here, was suddenly dismissed last May after 28 years' government service. He said Thursday he had been asked to stand against Mr. Chant in Victoria riding, on a Progressive Conservative ticket.

"It is interesting to know that Mr. Campbell has now publicly acknowledged his interest in politics," said Mr. Chant.

"I always thought he wasn't with me and the government."

Mr. Chant's previous remarks, at the time of the controversial firing, had indicated he felt Mr. Campbell to be inefficient.

Mr. Chant added today: "I do not think any good purpose can be served by a lengthy rehash of the past except for some things which I want to put straight for the sake of my staff.

OTHERS DID WORK

"Other staff members who are still with us did by far the major part of the work and planning on Government House. Furthermore, Mr. Campbell can take no credit whatsoever for the plans we have for the new Victoria law courts building. (Although Mr. Campbell shared in the original planning, these plans were subsequently altered, he explained.)

"His one-time misdirected efforts to plan our law courts were not in accordance with my directions and consequently are not a part of our present plans.

BETTER MORALE

"The morale of the department has recently greatly improved, and it is certainly completely untrue that Mr. Campbell had not met with me for eight months. (This was charged by Mr. Campbell at time of his dismissal.)

The minister concluded: "During that time he was in my office on a number of occasions on department business and could have seen me more often had he so desired."

The minister indicated that if Mr. Campbell does decide to seek the Tory nomination and becomes the candidate, a great deal more facts concerning the dismissal will be brought out on the election platform.

Dowell to Ask Early Meeting On New City Hall

Ald. Arthur Dowell today said he will call a meeting early in the New Year for a special council committee on proposals for a new City Hall.

"We haven't very many things to consider yet but there will be a meeting," he said. The committee was set up in November after council turned down a "lease-back" proposal by a Vancouver construction company which wanted to build a nine-storey City Hall building here.

Delay in convening of the committee was caused in part by revived interest in a civic auditorium. It is generally agreed that the city could not undertake both projects simultaneously.

Ottawa Asked To Include City In Weather Report

Transport Minister George Hees has been asked why Victoria is omitted from the daily weather report issued by the Dominion meterological department.

George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, complained to Defence Minister George Pearkes about this omission. Mr. Pearkes replied that he has raised the matter with the transport minister.

"It is disgraceful that Victoria should be left out of this report," Mr. Warren said.

City Tug Makes Good Speed to Stricken Ships

The Victoria deepsea tug Sudbury II is continuing to make good speed today toward a Dutch tug and two obsolete aircraft carriers disabled in a storm about 630 miles south of Midway Island.

The owners, Island Tug and Barge Ltd., believe the Sudbury will reach the scene Monday.

The tug, the Elbe, lost her tow of two carriers bound for a Japanese shipbreakers, and a towline fouled the tug's propellers.

Last reports from the Elbe, which lost the tow Tuesday, stated the ships were in no immediate danger.

There is a crew of 25 aboard the tug, and eight men aboard each carrier.

First Drydocking For Oil Tanker

The 22,000-ton oil tanker Michael Carrass entered Government Graving Dock at Esquimalt today for the marine version of a fast "shave-and-haircut."

Yarrows Ltd. will survey and paint the ship, and expect to finish the job by Saturday evening.

The Michael Carrass is being docked for the first time since she was built a year ago.

King Bros. Ltd. is Victoria agent.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today:

Edith G. Robertson, 1324 St. David, no driver's licence and failing to yield right-of-way, $25 and $15.

Thomas John Irvine, Work Point, U-turn and no driver's licence, $15 and $25.

Roger Perron, 2560 Estevan, going through red light, $15.

Full Renovation Of Telephone Co. Building Scanned

A complete renovation of the B.C. Telephone Company building in Victoria is under consideration.

"It is under serious consideration and it is a substantial project," a company spokesman in Vancouver told the Times today. "But there definitely has not been any approval given yet."

The proposal calls for modernization of the building's exterior and complete renovation of the interior to obtain maximum space and increase efficiency.

The project would be a logical sequel to opening of a $1,500,000 automatic switchboard in a spanking new addition this spring.

ASK The TIMES

Q—Could you please tell me how old Barbara Ann Scott is, and what championship did she hold? And also was Sonja Henie better than Barbara Ann and who was the better skater? M.C.J.

A—Barbara Ann is now aged 31. She won the European championship in 1947 and 1948, and the Olympic title in 1948. Sonya was the better known as she won 10 world championships and three Olympic titles from 1927 on, made 11 Hollywood movies and starred in many ice revues in Europe and on this continent. Which was the better skater is an academic point as they never competed against each other.

Q—What was the date of Germany's attack on Russia in the Second World War? V.D.I.

A—June 22, 1941.

REEVES DISAPPOINTED

Anti-Fluoride Ratio 13 to 8

Greater Victorians Thursday voted 13 to 8 against fluoridation of the water supply.

That was the average margin by which the health measure was defeated in Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt when a total of 6,483 voted against and 3,965 voted for it.

The same margin prevailed last week when Victoria effectively killed the proposal.

All told, 13,285 votes against and 7,934 votes in favor were cast by persons in the four municipalities in this year's area-wide referendum.

Oak Bay showed the most support for the measure where the vote broke at about four to three with 2,109 against and 1,543 in favor.

Saanich put up the stiffest resistance to the proposal, voting 3,513 against and 1,922 in favor—about seven to four.

Esquimalt voters rejected the referendum 861 against and 500 in favor — slightly more than three to two.

Victoria's vote approximated the average ratio at 13 to eight against.

Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch alone appeared happy with the result of the fluoridation referendum Thursday. Personally opposed to the measure, he said the "people are beginning to take a little cognizance of their freedoms and to assert their democratic rights.

"I don't think it was pure cussedness which caused the defeat. The people turned down fluoridation here, as they have everywhere else, because they felt it infringed on their rights."

Saanich Reeve George Chatterton and Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele, both of whom kept their own counsel prior to the vote, were disappointed at the result.

Reeve Chatterton said he had hoped he could realize some savings on his annual family dental bill, of about $400, through introduction of fluoridation.

Reeve Wurtele said he was disappointed that the measure was turned down after it had received unanimous support of doctors and dentists here. He attributed the defeat to the belief of many that the health measure would infringe on their rights.

Chou Offers Parley On Border

PEKING (Reuters) — Premier Chou En-lai has offered to begin talks with Prime Minister Nehru beginning Dec. 26 on the long-standing frontier dispute between Red China and India.

He suggested they meet in "any place in China," or else in the Burmese capital of Rangoon.

In a 3,000-word letter sent to Nehru Thursday and published here tonight, Chou welcomed the Indian leader's proposal to stop sending out patrols and said China had already given orders to that effect to its border guards.

Referring to charges made in an Indian note to Peking Sunday that China had maltreated Indian personnel captured in recent border incidents, Chou said that his had been "arbitrarily asserted" by India "disregarding the objective facts."

Replying to a letter from Nehru on Nov. 16, Chou said the two countries should consult on how far each should withdraw its troops from the border.

Chou wrote that pending agreement on a withdrawal along the entire border, China is prepared to try for a partial solution by applying Nehru's proposal that no troops be stationed at the northeast outpost of Longju or other disputed places on the border.

DEATH PENALTY

Pearson Favors Free Vote

(From Times Ottawa Bureau)

OTTAWA — Opposition Leader Lester Pearson is in favor of a free vote on capital punishment at the next session of Parliament.

It is possible that all leaders of Canada's three national parties may cast their ballots against capital punishment. Mr. Pearson's attitude on the question of a free vote was reported here today.

For weeks here pressure has been building up for members to be given the right to vote as their conscience and not the party dictates on the controversial question of capital punishment.

The question will arise in the House as it has on previous occasions over a private member's bill to abolish the death sentence, being introduced by Frank McGee, (PC-York-Scarboro).

Donations by Youngsters Hike Korean Kiddies' Fund

Showing the spirit of Christmas sharing in the most direct fashion, four youngsters from George Jay School today brought $10 into the Times for the war-crippled children in Korea.

The sum was collected from classmates in Grade Four.

Quartet of collectors were Robert Wood, Rosalie Roskelley, Jo-Anne Nadiger, all aged nine, and Helmut Althaus, 10.

The children have learned young the old and true adage that happiness can't exist unless shared.

This sharing makes everyone a stronger link in the intricate chain of human fellowship.

This is no more apparent throughout the year than at Christmas, when hearts warm to the needs of others and there is pleasure in giving.

But, sometimes, we don't give always where the need is greatest.

Things really close to home look much more important than a gift, say, to a struggling "little person" many miles away.

In an effort to put the spirit of giving in true perspective, the Times has combined with the Unitarian Service Committee to help war-maimed "little persons" in the Sam Yook home for disabled children in Seoul, Korea.

Donations, by cash or cheque, may be brought or sent to the Times' downtown office, 1215 Broad, or to the main office, 2631 Douglas. Cowichan Valley residents may deal through the Times' Duncan office, 30 Kenneth Street. All gifts are income tax deductible.

Western Leaders Arrive in Paris

(From Times News Services)

PARIS—Leaders of the United States, Britain and West Germany converged today on Paris for a summit conference with France—already in trouble because of a Franco-American dispute over NATO and Algeria.

The belief in the allied camp was that only a face-to-face meeting Saturday between President Eisenhower and President Charles de Gaulle could blunt the sharp differences and permit the western "big four" to try to chart a dynamic approach to the end of the cold war.

Eisenhower arrived at Paris by train this afternoon from Toulon to a formal welcome by De Gaulle.

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew in from London this morning, followed by West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer from Bonn.

The western big four planned at their three-day parley starting Saturday to place the problem of ending the nuclear age arms race at the top of the list in preparing for their meeting next spring with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

This approach had the ringing endorsement of all 15 NATO foreign ministers who Thursday urged the major western powers to take "every opportunity" to try to defuse the world powder keg through worldwide disarmament.

An air of tension hung over the western council table as the diplomats awaited the confrontation of Eisenhower, fresh from his triumphal "peace mission" of Asian, African and European countries, and De Gaulle, smarting under American criticism of his country's military policies.

There also were differences between Eisenhower and De Gaulle over the civil war in Algeria.

Concentrating on Disarmament

Eisenhower discussed the situation Thursday with President Habib Bourguiba of newly-independent Tunisia and both agreed the Algerian war was a "cause of grave concern."

The decision of the four Western leaders to concentrate on foolproof, controlled disarmament shoved partially into the background the explosive issues of Berlin and German unification—the problems which originally touched off the current diplomatic merry-go-round.

Macmillan said at the airport he is convinced a unified approach to the East will be produced in the weekend sessions.

Adenauer said he came for talks "aimed at the welfare and peace of Europe and the world."

Eisenhower, meanwhile, fit

THE TAIWAN PUZZLE

Brave Surface Hides Heartache

This is the third in a series of articles by Times editor Bruce Hutchison written after his recent visit to Taiwan (Formosa), where he interviewed Chiang Kai-shek and other leaders of the free Chinese.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

No Westerner can begin to grasp the hope and tragedy of Taiwan until he has been there and seen it for himself. Even then, if he is a casual tourist enjoying one of the Pacific's loveliest islands, he may not suspect the heartbreak beneath the brave surface of an exile government and a booming economy.

Hutchison

It is only when the ancient Chinese reserve breaks down and the exiles speak their real minds that one glimpses their passionate yearning for the old mainland home. And in the power struggle of the world the mainland seems to recede further every day into the mists of Formosa Strait.

The political facts of this flash-point of world explosion are easily understood. While the United States will hold Taiwan as a vital strategic base, it will not attack the mainland or let the formidable army of Taiwan attack it, not at least until the Communist regime collapses in counter-revolution. Chiang Kai-shek is well leashed.

But the human facts underlie, distort and may some day endanger the facts of politics. For the government of Taiwan lives, moves and has its being in the hope of recovering the mainland.

What happens if the exiles lose their hope, if the spiritual cement of this strange experiment dissolves? That is the haunting question which confronts not only Chiang but the United States.

It can be postponed while

Alberni Bookkeeper Becomes First Woman Mayor for Island

By DON INGHAM
Times Island Editor

MAYOR JORDON
. . . re-elected

Vancouver Island's only mayoralty elections Thursday, both in the Alberni Valley, saw Mayor Loran K. Jordan retain his seat in Port Alberni, and the city of Alberni elect its first woman mayor.

She is Mrs. Mabel S. Anderson, who defeated Mayor Jack Luckhurst 567-533.

Her victory makes her the first woman ever to hold a mayoralty post on Vancouver Island.

Secretary of Alberni Ratepayers' Association and resident there for 30 years, Mrs. Anderson won a governor-general's medal winner for the Lethbridge school district, and became vice-principal of schools at both Red Deer and Lethbridge.

She is a bookkeeper at Anderson's Groceteria in Alberni, a post she has held for 20 years. She has two sons, Kenneth, a North Vancouver teacher, and John, manager of the Alberni business.

Secretary of the Business and Professional Women's Club of the Albernis, she also is vice-president of the Ladies' Curling Club there.

Elected as aldermen at Alberni were Russell Foxcroft, 515; Ald. Charles Blair, 491, and George A. Dunbar, 488.

Defeated were Ald. George McRae, 478; W. T. Neale, 420; L. J. Stickley, 332, and Bernice Jones, 329. A $560,000 sewer bylaw was rejected 724-373.

Mayor Jordon defeated Gustave Frigstad 1,475-571 for election to his seventh consecutive term as Port Alberni's chief magistrate.

Elected to Port Alberni council were Earl Bowen, 1,064; Ald. Douglas Mallory, 1,050, and Ald. Fred Weaver, 860.

Defeated candidates were George Folkard, 788; Ald. Norman Odgers, 704; George McKnight, 667, and Alex Gilfillan, 514.

In North Cowichan new councillors are Reginald Clegg, retired Westholm farmer, 955, and William Bowles, Chemainus merchant, 765. Defeated were Coun. J. S. Dyke, 503, and Vernon L. Stanley-Jones, Duncan machinery dealer, 317.

At Campbell River newcomer Robert Jamieson defeated incumbent J. D. Bundy for chairmanship of the village commission 469-460.

Commissioner Jack Lee was re-elected with 571 votes, but William Hogg, making his first election bid, drew 374 votes to topple Commissioner Barney Box, 321, for the second of two vacant seats on the commission. Other candidates were Mrs. June Bootle, 310, and Harry Eastwood, 195.

Trustee Cyril Hague and Mrs. Ann Jackson were elected to the school board, and Frank Douglas and Trustee J. D. Iaci were defeated. Totals were not available today.

Two bylaws totalling $55,000 for a fire hall extension and new fire truck in the Chemainus area were carried 434-117.

Only issue at stake Thursday in Central Saanich, where councillors were elected by acclamation, was an $83,000 waterworks bylaw, which passed 474-256.

The money will be used to build a reservoir in the vicinity of Mount Newton, and individual areas may join the system later as they see fit. Source of water is the Elk Lake-Patricia Bay system.

Nanaimo voters, faced with only a referendum calling on city council to turn city-owned Newcastle Island over to the provincial government for development as a provincial park, passed it handily by a vote of 1,300-197.

There were 6,007 persons eligible to vote on the referendum.

The city bought the island from the CPR in 1955 for $150,000, and it has been used extensively by city groups, but maintenance costs of $6,000 per year have proved a burden.

Access to the 750-acre island is a problem, since a bridge would have to span navigable waters where the federal government has jurisdiction.

Details of elections in other Vancouver Island centres are as follows with (x) designating incumbents:

COMOX

School trustee (one seat)—(x) Gordon Wagner, 71, elected; Veronica Parker, 40.

NATIVE SONS' PROJECT

Ganges Museum Soon Completed

GANGES—M. B. East, Sidney contractor, will start work immediately on completion of the Centennial museum building in Ganges.

His firm is M and B Construction, and foreman is Jim Lorenzen. They expect about 10 days of work will be required to finish the log building and frame the roof. When finished it will measure 26 by 52 feet inside.

NATIVE SONS

The firm was engaged by Salt Spring Island post, Native Sons of B.C., which started the project last year with public funds raised by the Salt Spring Island Centennial Committee.

A log building on the southern end of the island was dismantled and logs were brought to the museum site, in the heart of the business section here. All other materials required for the building are on hand.

Native Sons building committee consists of Robert Akerman, president, and J. W. A. Green, past president.

be the next logical great power development in B.C."

Under questioning, he said: "It is well known there have been suggestions in B.C. that the Peace River should precede the Columbia development."

"We hope the B.C. government will devote maximum effort now to a co-operative development on the Columbia on the basis of the mutually advantageous terms the IJC has agreed to in principle."

Mr. Fulton, like other federal cabinet ministers, was extremely reluctant to enter the Columbia-Peace controversy on a no-holds-barred basis.

The fear in Ottawa is that any statements that would arouse the anger of Premier Bennett could serve to hold up federal-provincial agreement on successive phases of the Columbia program.

However, Mr. Fulton made it clear where Ottawa stands.

He was asked whether Ottawa would stop the Peace River project through legislative means available to it—the Navigable Waters Protection Act was cited as a possibility, since the Peace River is a navigable river.

"We would rather not concern ourselves with any problems that may arise on the Peace," he said. "We are concentrating on the Columbia. We want to get on with the job."
